ALLEGED POISONER FREED

District Attorney Nol Prosses First Degree Murder Charge Against Mrs. Archook

District Attorney Pelletier today nol prossed the first degree murder charge against Mrs. Stella Archook, accused of the murder of her husband, and ordered her release from jail. Lack of important evidence caused Mr. Pelletier to take this step, as he believed it would be impossible to convict.

Mrs. Archook was accused of having, on or before February 10 last, conspired with her lover, Alexander Krolle, to put poison in the coffee of her husband, Peter Archook, at their home in Revere.

Archook died within a few hours, and Krolle committed suicide in jail when he learned of the nature of the charge against him.

Mrs. Archook, who has been confined since the death of her husband, was overjoyed when orders were received for her release. She has never admitted guilt.

The district attorney said that he was convinced a trial would be merely an expense to the State, as absolutely essential evidence was wanting. "If such evidence ever turns up," he continued, "we can easily secure another indictment and bring this woman to trial."

$100 Bonus Ready for Naval Reservists After July 15

Naval Reservists by filing their notice of release from active service on and after July 15 can obtain the $100 war bonus granted by the State of Massachusetts, State Treasurer Burrill announced today. Earlier announcements from his office were to the effect that discharged papers must accompany applications or the bonus would be withheld.

As reservists are obliged to wait until the expiration of their four years' enlistment before receiving discharge papers they contemplated a long wait for the money. State Treasurer Burrill called on Attorney-General Attwill today and received approval of his decision.

Representative Robert E. Bigney of South Boston was prepared to set aside the obligation for discharge papers by filing a bill with the clerk of the House, making a notice of release sufficient. He declared that he would not withdraw his bill until he found that the money was being paid.

GOLFING STARS COMPETE FOR STATE TITLE

Play for the Massachusetts amateur golf championship title opened at the Winchester Country Club today. The thirty-two leading scores in the qualifying round of eighteen holes will continue at match play for the honors.

Tomorrow the first and second rounds of match play is scheduled, with the third and semi-final rounds on Friday, the final contest being carded for Saturday at thirty-six holes. Besides the qualifying round today the competition for the Windeler Shield will also be in order, the best five scores from any one club figuring for the trophy.

Three years ago, at the last championship, played at the Wollaston G. C., Montclair, in which Jesse P. Guilford emerged a winner, defeating S. Trafford Hicks of Winchester, 10 to 8, there was considerable dissatisfaction among the golfers after players from the Country Club, Brookline, had won the Windeler trophy.

All the Brookline men withdrew

BATTLE ON NEAR BEER OPENS

Vogel Pleads Not Guilty and Test Case Will Be Rushed to Decision in Federal Courts

The first test of whether Boston saloons can legally continue to sell 2¾ per cent. beer came today when Leopold H. Vogel of the liquor firm of Petts & Vogel, liquor dealers at No. 343 Washington street, pleaded not guilty in the United States District Court, before Judge George W. Anderson, to an "information" charging him with violation of the war time prohibiton act.

Vogel was allowed to go on his personal recognizance in bonds of $500 and was given a week to file a demurrer or such other pleading as his attorney, John W. McCormack, might consider advisable.

Sanford F. Petts, partner of Vogel, is out of the State and was not arraigned.

The "information" filed against Vogel by Assistant United States Attorney Louis Goldberg charged the former with selling beer for beverage purposes containing not less than one-half of one per cent. alcohol.

The case was called immediately upon the appearance in court of Judge Anderson. Vogel was represented by John W. McCormack, who is counsel for the Boston Liquor Dealers' Association.

HELD IN $500.

Prompted by his counsel, Vogel waived the reading of the "information" and pleaded not guilty. Judge Anderson then ordered him held in $500 without surety.

Attorney McCormack explained to the court that Sanford F. Petts, Vogel's partner, had been on a vacation in New Hampshire at the time of the filing of the "information" and would not appear. It was stated by Assistant United States Attorney Goldberg also that Petts would probably not appear.

SUSPECTS RIDE WITH PRIEST

Woman and Three Men Believed to Be Leaders of Auto Thieves Along North Shore

That a woman is acting with the holdup gang of auto thieves who have recently been operating on North Shore roads became known today, when the police of Hamilton, Ipswich and other nearby places were searching for a mysterious "Queen of the Auto Bandits" who have been robbing wealthy residents of the district.

Disclosures today added to the furore recent depredations had already aroused. The latest theory of the police is that certain chauffeurs of wealthy Summer residents may be working in collusion with the thieves.

Various indications that a woman was concerned in the series of daring holdups on the Essex and Beach roads were confirmed by Father Mitchell, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Ipswich, who encountered what he believes to be a gang of the bandits last evening on the road from Hamilton.

RODE IN PRIESTS' CAR.

Father Mitchell was driving a small car when he met a group of three men and a woman who asked him for a ride. The road, about four miles long, is at that point wooded and dark. The priest told the pedestrians to " hop in." After riding a short distance, they asked to get out, a request which the priest thought strange, as there was no means of

CANNOT FIND MAN WHO THREATENED SUICIDE

A careful search of the country surrounding South Weymouth failed today to discover any trace of Miles W. Summers, the shoe worker who disappeared from his home on Philip street in that town after leaving a note announcing his intention to commit suicide. A sentence in the note left by him, "Don't blame my wife," was taken by the police to mean that he had some disagreement with Mrs. Summers. The latter, however, says she is at a loss to account for her husband's disappearance.

HULL AND HINGHAM LOSE WATER RATE PETITION

The petition of the Summer residents of Hull and Hingham for a reduction in water rates was denied by the Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Commission in a decision announced today, Commissioner Solomon Lewenberg dissenting. The rates, payable in advance at the office of the Hingham Water Company, are 28 cents per 100 cubic feet with reductions proportionate to the amount used. Commissioner Lewenberg declared that the dividends of the company should be reduced from 8 to 7 per cent.

Sentences of Fish Trust Men Show the Boston American Was Right

The Boston American was right.

Fines and jail terms—jail terms, mark you—imposed today by the Massachusetts courts upon seventeen members and employes of the Boston Fish Trust for conspiracy to raise the price of fish and to control the fish market, confirm the stand taken by the American in its expose during last March and April of profiteering in fish.

During March and April the American maintained in Boston and other New England cities a chain of five-cent fish stores. Fish was sold at retail AT COST.

This experiment was conducted to determine the cost at which fish could be sold at retail without profit. If fish-at-cost could be marketed at prices much under the current retail quotations, then an excessive margin of profit could be charged against the dealers.

On April 30 the American delivered its finding in the fish situation in the form of a four-column editorial leader. This editorial began thus:

"A two months' experiment in the retail fish business has enabled the Boston American to demonstrate that the high price of fish is due to the rapacity of wholesale and retail dealers."

The next to the last paragraph of the same editorial read as follows:

"In the fish-at-cost stores is a demonstration of unrighteous profit-taking by the established 'fish interests.' "

The American was severely criticised in certain quarters for setting up this chain of fish-at-cost stores.

But what do the courts of Massachusetts say? They say that the promoter and four officers of the offending fish corporation must each pay a fine of $1,000 and serve one year in jail. They say that twelve other men, members or employes of that same corporation, must pay $500 fines each and go to jail for six months.

The Massachusetts courts say that these men must suffer these penalties for conspiring to create a monopoly in foodstuffs. This in a period when the public was groaning under the burden of war, when prices of necessaries, especially foodstuffs, were inflated and when foodstuffs were needed to win the war.

The American said there was "unrighteous profit-taking" by the fish interests.

The Massachusetts courts have found it so. Were the courts to descend from the accustomed dignity of judicial phraseology and borrow the language of the "man in the street," they might confirm the American's contention by declaring: "We'll say so."

The American was right.

TOP OF HEAD IS BLOWN OFF BY EXPLOSION

Springfield, July 9.—One man was killed and another seriously injured when a large tank exploded today in the yard of the Chapman Valve Company in this city.

The explosion blew off the top of the head of James Watson, thirty-seven, while Michael Milegean was badly burned and is in the Hampden Hospital in a dangerous condition. Both men were residents of Indian Orchard.

According to the authorities the men were welding a faucet into the tank which had been previously used as a beer container. It is believed that flames from the acetylene welder ignited gas which had formed in the tank.

Close Watch Kept on Ex-Kaiser, Says Bonar Law

London, July 9.—All possible steps have been taken to prevent the escape of the ex-Kaiser, A. Bonar Law, government leader in the House of Commons, announced in Parliament this afternoon.

DANIELS GOING WITH PACIFIC COAST FLEET

Washington, July 9.—The date of departure of the Pacific fleet for the Pacific coast has been definitely set for Saturday, July 19, and it is expected to arrive between August 5 and 10. The date originally had been set for July 17. It is now practically certain Secretary Daniels will be able to make the trip upon one of the vessels. It is also understood that President Wilson's itinerary will be arranged so as to bring his arrival on the coast simultaneous with that of the fleet.

17 FINED $500 TO $1,000 EACH

President Frederick Monroe Dyer of the Bay State Fishing Company and four other officers of that institution today were given a year in the house of correction and fined $1,000 each, for conspiring to raise the price of fish and to control the fish market, by Judge Sanderson in the Superior Criminal Court.

Twelve other men, prominent in the Bay State and subsidiary concerns, were given six months and fined $500 each.

Besides Dyer, the men given sentences of one year and fines of $1,000 were Joshua Paine and Joseph A. Rich, directors; Ernest A. Jones, treasurer; and John Burns, manager.

The twelve men given six months in jail and fines of $500 each were Alvin G. Baker, Ephraim N. Cook, Willard R. Cox, William E. Curran, Louis B. Goodspeed, Winfield S. Kendrick, William F. McKeon, Frederick G. Phillips, Herbert F. Phillips, Albert E. Watts, Herbert A. Rich and Simon Atwood, Jr.

UP TO SUPREME COURT.

All of the defendants will take their cases to the Supreme Court on exceptions. Their appeals will act as stays of sentence pending the decision of that tribunal.

The Bay State Fishing Company, of which the men sentenced today were all members or employes, was formed by F. Munroe Dyer and other financiers to operate a fleet of steam trawlers out of this port and to engage in the wholesale fish business on the big $3,000,000 fish pier built by the Commonwealth at south Boston. The financiers induced a number of the

PEACE TREATY NOT PERFECT, BUT IT SATISFIES PRESIDENT WILSON

LOOKS FOR APPROVAL FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 9.—Every precaution will be taken for President Wilson, when he addresses the Senate tomorrow. Printed notice was sent to every Senator today urging the utmost caution in the distribution of tickets to the galleries in order that "no undesirable or dangerous persons" may gain admittance.

The issues in the German peace treaty with its accompanying constitution for the proposed League of Nations were joined today. The opening gun for the ratification will be fired tomorrow.

President Wilson himself will tell the Senate and as many members of the House as can be accommodated in the chamber just why, in his opinion, the treaty must be ratified.

Friends of the President declared today that he believes when all of the facts are known the opposition to ratification will break down of its own weight. It also was declared today in White House circles that the President believes the people will completely endorse his position so soon as they know all of the facts.

The President's message and the complete official treaty went to the printer today. Both will be laid on the desks of the Senators tomorrow, immediately after the President ends his address.

The message, those in the President's confidence who have had opportunity to read it say, is a masterpiece. In fact some of the President's most enthusiastic advisers characterized it today as "the greatest" of his state papers.

Throughout, the message is declared to be absolutely free from criticism of the treaty's opponents. It is designed, it was stated today, to lay the foundation for full and free discussion of the work of the American commission to negotiate peace.

The message is something more than five thousand words in length. Starting out with an explanation of the difficulties that were encountered in reconciling the diverse interests represented in Paris, it explains that there was evidence at all times that the peoples of the world were looking to the United States for guidance.

ammunition at that point, and the hour was late.

He stopped the car and they disappeared.

It was the belief of the police today that the quartet had intended to rob the occupant of the car, but were deterred by the sight of the Roman collar indicating his priesthood. Rumors of a large touring car with yellow wheels, seen by several residents, led to the belief that this was used by the bandits, and that it was probably hidden near the point where Father Mitchell discharged his self-invited guests.

MILLIONAIRE HELD UP.

Two holdups which occurred on the night of June 15 on the Essex road were made known today. They occurred within fifteen minutes of each other. In one case a Topsfield millionaire, driving with a chauffeur and a woman friend, was held up and robbed, although the name and details were withheld in the reporet to the police. It is believed that the desire to avoid a scandal led the victim to suppress details of the robbery.

The other case was that of a man from Manchester, who refused to stop when he was signaled for "a ride." As the car put on speed, two shots were fired by the gang.

The fashionable North Shore colony is terrorized by these events. As a result the police are adding to their forces and keeping a shrp lookout. Chief Edwrd Leavitt was recently discharged from the navy. He served as provost guard in Boston and elsewhere. He has been personally patrolling the highways at night and has added special and regular officers to his force.

HOLDUPS UNREVEALED.

That a number of holdups have occurred which have never been reported to the police was practically certain today.

Ipswich has about 2,500 additional residents during the Summer, many of them wealthy families from New York and other cities. Among them is Richard T. Crane of Chicago, who recently gave the town a hospital, and who has on his Summer estate a swimming pool that cost $200,000. Other wealthy residents include James H. Proctor, George Barnard, George L. de Blois, Charles C. Rice, Charles E. Bohlen of New York, Francis R. Atwood and Charles Tuckerman.

Among the prominent residents of Hamilton are the families of the late Augustus P. Gardner and the late George von L. Meyer.

All these residents have high-powered cars and entertain many guests during the season.

REVEAL MRS. EDDY'S RULE AT HEARING

Directors' Record Gives Written Requests of Christian Science Leader

The firm control which Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy exercised over the Christian Science organization was shown in her letters and in minutes of meetings of directors of the "Mother" church at today's session of the hearing before Judge Frederic Dodge as master in the controversy between trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society and directors of the church.

These letters and meeting records were read by Walter A. Dane, counsel for the directors, in the course of his continued examination of William L. Johnson, assistant clerk of the church.

On the other hand, William G. Johnson, counsel for John V. Dittemore, a deposed church director, who seeks reinstatement, said in a discussion of church by-laws and amendments:

"I feel that there have been changes made in the by-laws without the auhtority of Mrs. Eddy by unauthorized persons. We understand that the by-laws get their sanctity and authority from Mrs. Eddy."

Attorney Johnson said that, where there was any question of the authorization of any amendments to any by-laws, he wished counsel for the directors to prove that such amendments had been authorized by Mrs. Eddy.

REQUEST FULLY OBSERVED.

The hearings are upon the bill in equity brought by H. W. Eustace and others, trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society, against Adam H. Dickey and other directors of the Christian Science Church.

The publishing trustees seek to have the church directors restrained from interfering in affairs of the publishing society. The trustees say that, under a deed of trust from Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the church, they have independent action. The church directors say that, under a deed they hold from Mrs. Eddy, they are supreme and have full control of the church and publishing society.

Assistant Clerk Johnson identified a by-law in the original document. It was in typewriting. But some typewritten phrases had been marked out. Different phrases, in the handwriting of Mrs. Eddy, were substituted.

Mr. Dane read a brief note from Mrs. Eddy to the church directors in the early days of the organization, thus:

"I have thought it best to have no executive members. Will you vote at once on the matter and have it known?
"M. B. EDDY."

Records were read to show that the directors carried out this request immediately.

MRS. EDDY'S LETTERS.

Mrs. Eddy wrote to the directors from her home No. 38 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, on July 1, 1892, as follows:

"Please vote to repeal the following paragraph in bylaws."

This was done.

A letter from Mrs. Eddy to the late William B. Johnson of Dorchester, first clerk of the church and father of Assistant Clerk William L. Johnson, was read, as follows:

"Beloved Clerk:

Please vote on this law. I think you will find it useful to our church.
"With love, M. B. EDDY."

The law in question limited the term of editors, publishers, readers and clerk and treasurer to three years.

Three days later, on October 4, 1892, the directors did as Mrs. Eddy requested, as shown by reading of the records.

It's a Sure Cure for Thirst! Sinn Fein Punch!

Try a Sinn Fein punch. This is a Summer drink, not a threat. The recipe was forwarded to the American today, per postcard, by Adeline M. Murphy of Somerville, as follows:

To improve appearance, pour into punch bowl, add slices of lemon and sprigs of mint, or lemon-lime tablets. The ginger gives a tonic effect.

10,000,000 SALE OF PROPERTY FOR TAXES

City Opens Record Auction, but Bidders Are Not Numerous

Property amounting to about $1,000,000, including 2,800 parcels of land, was put up at auction today in City Collector Frank S. Deland's office for non-payment of taxes. This is the largest sale of the kind in the history of the city.

Cases of property sold for the failure to pay a fifty-cent moth tax featured the sale. Bidding was active at times but the bidders were not interested in the large sales. Robert Fowler, auctioneer, had difficulty in selling a $6,000 parcel. About twenty bidders were present. The sale will probably last two days.

Property unsold either today or tomorrow will be placed on sale one week from today. After that, court action will be taken by the collector which will result in the city claiming the property after two years, at which time it can sell the property outright.

separate fish concerns to merge their interests with those of the corporation.

Owning at that time all the steam trawlers sailing out of this port, this corporation was able to control the local market, and, according to testimony, juggle wholesale fish prices as it willed.

It was as a result of the operations of the Bay State that the United States government began a case against the entire wholesale fish industry of Boston. This case is still pending. Shortly after the beginning of the government case, the Massachusetts Legislature began an extended investigation into the fishing industry, and still later, acting on testimony brought out by the investigation, the matter was brought before the Suffolk Grand Jury.

Indictments were originally found against others besides those sentenced today, but during the progress of the trial the court discharged all save the defendants who were members of the Bay State Fishing Company, who were duly found guilty by a jury. It was alleged that these defendants had conspired, contrary to the laws of the Commonwealth, to create a monopoly in fish. There were a number of counts in the indictment.

THOUSANDS DELAYED BY B. & A. WRECK IN CITY

Thousands of persons on inbound and outbound lines of the Boston & Albany road were held up for nearly an hour today when a freight car was wrecked near the Washington street bridge between the Huntington avenue and South stations. As a result of the tie-up, early morning commuters were late in arriving at their work in the city. Nearly all left their trains at the Huntington avenue station and took surface cars to their offices.

There was a string of stalled passenger trains extending from the Huntington avenue station away out past Massachusetts avenue to near Allston and hundreds of passengers left the coaches and walked the tracks to the nearest station so they could reach street cars.

The tieup occurred about 6:45 a. m., when a switch engine collided with a refrigerator car attached to the end of a freight train, almost wrecking the car and strewing debris over passenger track No. 3.

Army Air Service Flies 140,000 Miles in the Month of June

Washington, July 9.—The work of the air service of the United States Army for the month of June in cross country flying exceeded one hundred and forty thousand miles. Mountains, canyons, rivers, valleys, clouds, thunder storms and high winds were on the line of flight. The flights were at celebrations in honor of home-coming soldiers, the charting of routes and in the interest of recruiting. The one hundred and forty thousand miles does not include the mileage flown over fields in giving instructions to enlisted men.

CITY TAX EXPERTS GET AFTER THE WEBSTER-JORDAN PROPERTIES

ASSESSORS VISIT RENT BOOSTERS

Chairman Kelly and Two Experts to See if Increases Are Justified

Chairman Edward T. Kelly of the Board of Assessors, accompanied by two other experts from his office, today called upon the Webster-Jordan Company for a list of the Boston properties owned or controlled by them for the purpose of determining whether or not the 25 per cent. increase in rents asked by that concern are justified.

In addition to this action, Chairman Kelly and his men made a personal investigation of the Huntington avenue suites where numbers of complaints have come from.

This action followed a request from Acting Mayor Francis J. W. Ford, who is determined to get a square deal for the many complainants who have visited the Mayor's office.

Chairman Kelly has done much constructive work during the past month in adjusting differences which have existed between the landlords and the tenants. He has found flagrant cases of rent-raising and on the other hand has found many of the increases absolutely justified.

The investigation of the Webster-Jordan property, he states, will be no different than any other. He would not comment on the 25 per cent. increase until he had made a thorough study of the conditions.

He recommends the appointment, by the Mayor, of a citizens' committee to take immediate action. He feels that the banks should release money to reputable citizens for the purpose of getting homes built. He feels that this is the way to beat the rent profiteer.

EX-GOV. DOUGLAS SPEAKS AGAINST MERGER PLAN

Former Governor William L. Douglas and E. Gerry Brown were two of the members of a delegation of Brockton citizens who appeared before the Senate Committee on Ways and Means at the State House to oppose the inclusion of the Board of Conciliation and Arbitration in the Department of Labor and Industries under the terms of the State department consolidation bill.

While the ex-Governor told the committee that the change in conditions would work hardships upon the shoe manufacturing industries, Mr. Brown said he supposed there is not a man in the Legislature who is not looking for one of the jobs to be created through the passage of the bill, which would abolish some jobs while creating others.

WOMAN SWINDLER IS NOT FROM MALDEN

Mystery surrounds the stylishly gowned woman giving the name of Mrs. Helen M. Addy of Malden, arrested recently at Newark, N. J., charged with defrauding a Lake Hopatcong, N. J., hotel man of $170.

The arrest, coming shortly after the woman and a beautiful nineteen-year-old girl, claiming to be her daughter, had gained entrance to the most exclusive social circles at the Summer colony, created a stir among society people.

Investigation by Malden authorities failed to disclose anyone of the same name in the city.

CRIPPLES SEEKING CURE THROUGH JAMES MOORE HICKSON, THE CHRISTIAN HEALER

Touching sights witnessed today when scores of blind, lame and suffering persons crowded the little Church of St. John the Evangelist on Bowdoin street, seeking relief through the ministrations of Mr. Hickson.

'SPEED QUEEN' SENTENCED AND FINED $75

Miss Loretta Dakin of Tech and Conservatory Drove Auto While Intoxicated

Miss Loretta M. Dakin, student bacteriologist, known to the police as the "Speed Queen," was fined $75 in the Newton Court today and given a suspended sentence on the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

The young woman, who gave her address at No. 29 Sparks street, Cambridge, and her age as twenty-six, was fined $25 in the Roxbury Court in 1917 on the charge of reckless driving.

Miss Dakin is the daughter of a Cleveland manufacturer, and a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the New England Conservatory of Music.

The latest arrest was made early today at Newton Corner by Patrolmen Cody and O'Neil. In the Newton court the young woman pleaded guilty. She stated that she was a student bacteriologist, explaining to the court that her occupation had no connection with her condition. To queries from the police as to the source of her liquor supply she made no reply.

At No. 29 Sparks street, which is the residence of Leo Weiner, it was stated that Miss Dakin had not been home since morning, and that the members of the family were never certain as to when she would return.

When arrested in 1917 Miss Dakin blamed her predicament on her Pekinese poodle, Chin Chin. She stated that while driving her roadster, a high powered machine up Beacon street, Chin Chin carelessly fell off the sea. While the girl driver was looking to see if the dog was hurt, she said she was struck by a machine driven by a man, which was coming in the opposite direction.

TOOK GIRL AWAY TO WED, IS HELD AS ABDUCTOR

Worcester, July 9.—Because parents of Delia Dalianis, fourteen years old, objected to her becoming the wife of Theodore T. Raols, alias Jaregonpis, twenty-six years old, of Worcester, and put a stop to the marriage the two had planned, the man in the case is held in $1,000 bail in Summer street jail on a charge of abduction.

The girl says that, on account of her parents objecting, she and Raols left Worcester at 1 a. m. July 4 and went to Bridgeport, where a license to marry was sought. They were unsuccessful there and were about to go to New York when officers apprehended them.

CENTENARY OF HOWE OBSERVED AT SPENCER

Spencer, July 9. — Spencer today honored the 100th anniversary of the birth of Elias Howe, Jr., inventor of the sewing machine. Under direction of the Chamber of Commerce a memorial service was conducted at the Howe grave. A wreath sent by the inventor's granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth I. Hopkins of New York, was placed on the grave. Howe was born in Spencer and a monument in his honor stands in the central section of the village. There will be a special celebration September 10 to mark the seventy-ninth anniversary of the granting of his first patent.

Urge Women Voters to Gossip to Cure All Political Evils

By HAZEL CANNING.

Durham, N. H., July 9.—Five hundred women, prospective women voters of New England, and especially of the State of New Hampshire, met at the New Hampshire State College for a week's schooling in citizenship.

The main subjects considered at the first day's session were the policies of the different political parties, parliamentary practice and contemporaneous world history, as it affects the future women's vote.

The morning and afternoon sessions of the school were presided over by Mrs. Mary I. Wood of Portsmouth. The evening session was in charge of Huntley E. Spaulding, food administrator of New Hampshire.

"Carry your gossip into politics," was the first advice given women student voters by Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker of Connecticut.

GOSSIP TO CURE ILLS.

"By woman's blessed faculty of gossip the ills of our political life may be cured, so far as woman's vote can cure them."

"How? This way. The wretched politician of our cities will have his failings described perhaps by a man to his wife. She must then tell all her woman associates, who, in turn, will tell all their friends. Thus will the ball be kept rolling till the awakened woman voter finds out what sort of men are running for office, and support him according to his desserts."

Now anybody who imagines that the new woman voter is going to vote the "straight Republican ticket or the straight Democratic" will be quickly disillusioned if he steps in for a minute where the future solons, at this college, set among rolling New Hampshire hills, are putting their heads together. For, as Mrs. Schoonmaker further advises, "Split your ticket, girls, find out the record of the man, and vote accordingly."

"The girls" signified their interest so to do. An atmosphere of optimism was about, especially when Mrs. Wood, the presiding officer, gave the first talk on parliamentary procedure.

When Mrs. Wood first began, a group of white-haired women near the door, who looked the wives of prosperous farmers, shook their heads.

"I always forget to say Madam Chairman," one confessed, and as for questions of order; Mrs. Wood put the question to rest with her first sentence, "It is no trouble to learn the machinery of government to accomplish political results," she said.

MUST SOCIALIZE THE HOME.

Above all else, Mrs. Wood was explicit on women carving out new political parties for themselves. Said she: "If our voting means simply doubling the ballots then our object is defeated. We must contribute feminine intelligence.

"We should be more interested in good schools, clean water, fit milk; above all else homes that rest and comfort, than in the tariff or high finance. We must socialize our vote, the home. We must bring the world into the home and the home out into the world, even to talking baking biscuits abroad if that is needed."

Professor Donald Babcock sounded a homely strain with a prophetic note when he spoke of town and country problems. He told of a country funeral he attended where the overworked farm woman had died of scalds received when she dropped a kettle she was carrying.

"I saw the kettle," he explained. "It was of iron, like those brought over in the Mayflower and weighing thirty pounds or more. This was all this woman had had, for this purpose, all the days of her farm life. The rest of her home was even as the kettle.

"If you women, with the vote, cannot settle machinery that will make homekeeping up-to-date and saving of the toilers in kitchens, then woman's vote had better not be cast."

WHAT TO VOTE AGAINST.

Here is one thing to vote against, as learned the first day of the school by woman voters of the future. The man who holds out against an eight hour day, the man who voted against the age of consent, the man who voted against the Child Labor Law.

Other speakers were Miss Edna Wright, of the staff of the National Woman Suffrage Association; Miss Marjorie Shuler, chairman of the Suffrage Commission of New York State, and associate editor of the Woman Citizen; Mrs. Helen Rand Thayer, who spoke on Americanization; Mrs. Frank Streeter, whose subject was "Child Welfare;" Dr. D. L. Hancomb, who spoke on "Community Service," and Mrs. Myra B. Lord, who spoke on thrift.

The voting school here is memorable for one thing above all others, that is not the lessons taught, nor the politics learned. It is by no means the parliamentary law and usage daily urged upon the women, it is rather, and most abundantly, the amazing interest taken in the great new weapon of the future, now in the hand of woman, the vote, and this vote brings out, from little humble farms, women of all ages and conditions, and, particularly, it brings out the old, gray-haired women whom one would rather expect to see turning in at the Sewing Circle. As Mrs. Schoonmaker praised it in closing, "Our supreme effort must be to do for the world, as women voters, what we have done for the home."

A note of warning followed. Heed all you politicians of the dubious ways, for women! with votes soon, up at the voters' school in New Hampshire, send it out—"And before we cast ever a vote, we mean to find out who are our friends and who are our enemies."

ACCUSED "PANHANDLER" IS HELD FOR SHOOTING

John McGovern of South Boston was held in $1,500 in Municipal Court today on the charge of murderous assault while armed with a dangerous weapon. The complainant was John Jacobs of Kneeland street, who alleged that on June 27 McGovern shot him twice in the thigh after Jacobs had refused to be "panhandled." In spite of his wounds Jacobs gave chase and finally captured and disarmed his assailant.

ACCIDENT BOARD CUT PASSED BY SENATE

The State Industrial Accident Board will be reduced from seven to six members with the expiration of the term of the first retiring member, by an order passed in the Senate. The reduction was recommended by Governor Coolidge. Thomas F. Boyle of Boston will be the first retiring member. His term is ended December 2. Dropping a member will permit an increase in the salaries of $500 for each member without increasing the total salaries paid.

The little church of St. John the Evangelist on Bowdoin street witnessed a touching sight today when a congregation of the blind, the lame and the sick crowded the edifice to the doors seeking relief from their afflictions through the ministrations of James Moore Hickson, the Christian healer.

Most of the congregation of 300 persons were invalids or semi-invalids and their escorts. In the galleries, which were open to the public, were many Boston healers, who manifested the keenest interest in the methods of the Englishman.

It has been related that in some of Hickson's meetings elsewhere miraculous cures of long-standing ills were effected on the spot, and that on more than one occasion a man or woman who had to be carried to meeting left the healer's presence apparently wholly cured. No such instances were noted at Hickson's initial Boston meeting today, but many of the supplicants left the church apparently exalted in spirit and declaring that they already felt an improvement in their condition.

DUE WHOLLY TO PRAYER.

There is nothing spectacular in the methods employed by Hickson in demonstrating the healing art. There is no singing or emotional appeal other than that of quiet prayer, and the entire ceremony is dignified and restrained.

Mr. Hickson, upon arriving at the church and facing his first Boston congregation of supplicants, emphasized at the beginning that if good to any one of them were to result, it would not be because of any especial gift that he himself possessed.

"The result depends upon yourselves through your prayers," he said. "The power of healing comes solely and entirely from Christ. Let us, therefore, ask Him to help us."

The entire congregation then knelt while prayers were recited by one of the clergymen of the church. Then Hickson issued his invitation for the afflicted to come forward to pray with him to God for relief.

Forty persons, most of whom were women, answered the summons from their seats in front of the chancel rail, carrying with them copies of the New Testament, which had been distributed before the service by the Sisters of St. Margaret.

LAYING ON OF HANDS.

Each supplicant approached the altar in turn and knelt at a desk before Mr. Hickson. The healer then imposed his hands upon the head of the supplicant for a period of several minutes, praying silently the while.

In several cases where the supplicant was unable by reason of the nature of his infirmities to go forward to the altar and kneel, the healer sought him or her out in the congregation and performed the imposition of hands there.

The men conducted a vaudeville and moving picture entertainment in the Opera House here for several months.

FARMER IS HELD FOR 'HECKLING' MINISTER

Maine Preacher in Court Says He Was "Rotten-Egged" on the Fourth

Portland, Me., July 9.—Probable cause was found in court today against William L. Sanborn, a farmer of Gray, who was charged with participating in an unlawful assembly early on July Fourth in front of the home of Rev. Samuel M. Thompson, pastor of Gray Baptist Church. Sanborn was held in $500.

After court Pastor Thompson claimed, in answer to a question, that rotten eggs were thrown and that he, his wife and daughter were struck by some of the eggs. But no allegation of egg-throwing was made against Sanborn in court. The orginal charge against him was assault, but this was changed in court to the one of unlawful assembly.

It was said, after the Independence Day incident, that Pastor Thompson had aroused the ire of certain Gray townsfolk by his activity against certain forms of dancing; also that he went scouting with a flashlight for hard cider at Gray dances.

It was claimed that more than a score of holiday celebrants gathered in front of the pastor's residence. The pastor testified in part:

"Sanborn stood outside my house and harangued the crowd, saying: 'This minister is the vilest of all hypocrites.' He also told them that I was a Chinaman and lived on rice. Later they brought up two horse-rakes, two sets of wagon wheels and two kerosene barrels. Constable Victor L. Yeaton came along and advised us to go inside the house, which we did. The crowd dispersed."

SAYS LABOR IS TO HAVE VOICE IN PRICES

Must Also Have Bigger Share in Surplus, Declares Miss Bondfield

That the workers of the future are to have a bigger share in the proceeds of industry and a voice in fixing the prices of commodities they help to manufacture is the opinion of Margaret Bondfield, English labor woman, who speaks tonight at Tremont Temple in the interests of the Women's Trade Union League.

Miss Bondfield is a delegate from the British Trade Congress to the American Federation of Labor Convention.

"The whole tendency in England today," she said "is to impress upon employers the importance of making adequate allowance for wages when making contracts for product. "Workshop control and the control of the industry by workers will mean that workers will have a bigger voice in the future in the size of the share to go to them and the price the community must pay for the product.

"Because, in the last analysis, the workers themselves are a greater part of the community.

"Under the old method increased wages meant, to large masses of people, simply taking money out of one pocket to put it in the other, but no real increase.

MRS. EATON IS AGAIN VICTOR IN COURT

Full Bench Overrules Stepsons' Exceptions in Will Case

Mrs. Ella F. Eaton has again scored against her stepsons, Ezra S. and Malcolm H. Eaton, who sought to enjoin her from contesting the will of her husband, the late Charles S. Eaton, formerly proprietor of Thompson's Spa. The full bench of the Supreme Court today overruled the sons' exceptions to the decision of Judge Braley, who heard the facts and found in favor of the widow.

Mrs. Eaton contends that by an ante-nuptial agrement her husband was to leave her one-fourth of his estate; that following her separation from her husband in 1914 he made large gifts to his three sons for the purpose of depleting the value of his estate, such acts constituting a violation of the ante-nuptial agreement, and that if she now took a widow's third it would be larger than the one-fourth provided for by the ante-nuptial agrement.

Judge Braley found in her favor on all these points, and the sons filed exceptions, which the Supreme Court now overrules.

In accepting Judge Braley's decision on facts Chief Justice Rugg in the opinion says: "That the conduct of the deceased was deliberately designed is manifest not only from all the circumstances including his general intelligence and intellectual acumen, but especially from his refustal to accept and follow the advice of the one who had been his attorney for many years and who drew the antenuptial contract, to the effect that under its terms he could not give interests as partners in the Spa to his sons, and his resort to the counsel of others."

"The precise question presented," says the chief justice, "is whether, when a man who has made an antenuptial contract with a woman, who in reliance thereto becomes his wife, to give her by will a share of his estate equal to that to be given by will to others, the husband lawfully may by deliberate design, for the express purpose of diminishing the money value of the testamentary provision for the wife, make lavish gifts from his estate to others during his life. That question never before has arisen for adjudication in this court.

"The decisions are uniform, so far as we are aware, to the effect that where there is an antenuptial contract and the parties to the marriage have voluntarily elected not to depend upon the provisions of the law, but upon the terms of an express agreement, a different rule applies.

"Such parties are not absolutely free to give away their property at their own volition. The reason for a different rule doubtless is that, where a man and woman who are to become husband and wife undertake to establish the rights of each in the property of the other by contract, they are held to reasonableness and good faith in its execution.

"The contract is of course to be interpreted according to its words. No contract is to be constructed in conformity to the mere unexpressed expectation of the parties to it. Hope of the one or apprehension of the other not written into the agreement constitutes no part of its obligation.

"There are, however, certain implications which arise out of the nature of the transaction when a man and a woman in contemplation of marriage attempt to settle by contract their respective property rights in the estate of the first to decease.

"The participants in an antenuptial contract do not stand at arm's length with reference to each other. Their relation is one of the highest trust and confidence. It demands the utmost good faith on the part of each."

DENY REPORTS MRS. SKEELS IS NEAR DEATH

She Is Still Confined to Her Bed: Physician in Constant Attendance

Lawrence, July 9.—Mrs. Bessie May (Skeels) Lundgren was much improved today, following an attack of severe illness which has lasted since her acquittal on the charge of murder of Miss Florence M. Gay of Andover.

Although Mrs. Lundgren was still confined to her bed, and obliged to take food artificially, reports that she was near death were denied. Her physician, Dr. William D. Walker, is still in constant attendance on her.

The "sunshine nurse," as the people of Andover call her, is apparently reconciled with the thought that she is freed from the charge of the murder. It is deemed unwise, owing to her condition, to tell her of the warrant which now awaits her at the local county jail for the murder of her brother, Albert J. H. Wilkins, of Bayonne, N. J. She had said many times while her trial for the murder of Florence Gay was pending that she would die contentedly if she were declared innocent.

She has talked with no one since her acquittal, not even her husband, whose devotion and belief in his wife has not lessened since the additional charge of causing her brother's death by poison was placed against her in the Hudson County indictment.

Mr. Lundgren does not believe his wife will have to stand trial in New Jersey. He expressed his belief in Counsel Daley to prevent the machinery of extradition in the State of New Jersey from being operated. Mr. Daley, who addressed Governor Runyon of New Jersey in a letter asking for hearing on the matter of extradition, expects to hear from the executive immediately regarding it. The extradition papers will not be sought at once, Mr. Daley understands. The prosecutor of Hudson County will await the Governor's action in the matter.

APPEALS SENTENCE FOR THEFT OF BANKROLL

Bishop's Plain Talk on Marriage Makes Stir in England

London, July 9.—There is a wide discussion in England of a plea made by the Bishop of Lichenfield in a sermon to the Mothers' Union in St. Paul's, in which he said:

"There are in England two conceptions of marriage at the present time. According to one idea, marriage simply exists for the pleasure and satisfaction of the husband and wife.

"If the sexual impulse, which they call love, ceases, then the union is to be dissolved. The idea of service and loyalty is eliminated.

"The other idea is that of the Mothers' Union, that marriage creates the home, which is the best sphere for mutual service."

The bishop condemned artificial expedients, but this did not mean that every home should have the largest possible family. In marriage, as in other things, self-restraint must be exercised, he said.

MOVIE MEN CHARGED WITH KEEPING WAR TAX

Charged with failing to make return of their theatrical war taxes to the government, Alfred Tomaselli and Charles Bonanno, both of Lawrence, were held in $1,000 bail today when arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes. The defendants operate a moving picture house in Lawrence. Hearing was set for August 9. The Internal Revenue Department contend that they collected about $1,000 in a period of five months which they failed to pay the government.

RESERVE TREATY RIGHT TO PROTECT THE KAISER

Weimar, July 7 (via Berlin, July 9.—The German National party will propose in a resolution tomorrow that before the National Assembly ratifies the peace treaty it make a reservation that Germany will not surrender the ex-Kaiser for trial before an international commission.

"Lack of Funds" Right When Applied to the Elevated

The statement that the Boston Elevated Street Railway Company is suffering from lack of funds, reiterated many times by press agents and others, was corroborated today by an American representative.

Presenting a five dollar bill at two subway stations, one of them among the busiest on the system, the American man found that the cashier could not change it. Entering the Washington street subway at the Chauncy street entrance, the American man offered his bill and demanded one metal disk. The cashier regretfully informed him that there was not sufficient change, but refused to allow him to go through.

The American man then wended his way to the Park street subway, somewhat indignant over the extra walk, but confident that he would have no more trouble. The same conditions obtained, however, and he was at length forced to retrace his steps and purchase a cigar in a drug store, in order to secure small change.

He is now wondering if said cigar can be placed on his expense bill.

PUT BIG TAXES ON WEALTHY IN GERMANY

Drastic Bills Introduced in the Assembly to Meet War Indemnity

Weimar, July 7, via Berlin, July 9.—The initial step toward raising the great war indemnity imposed on Germany by the allies was taken here this afternoon when Dr. Mathias Erzberger, Vice-Chancellor and Minister of Finance, introduced ten new revenue bills in the National Assembly, designed to increase the income of the republic by 900 per cent.

The most revolutionary step in the government's financial program as announced by Dr. Erzberger was the flat statement that "it is necessary for the propertied classes to surrender their superfluous riches." A bill for the expropriation of large fortunes by the government was designed to carry out this program.

The measures provide for:

FINANCIAL PROGRAM.

Expropriation of large fortunes.

Special taxation on all fortunes increased during the war.

Taxation on the profits of real estate transactions.

Taxations on amusements.

Inheritance taxes.

A Federal tax on the profits by German States from the sale of lands used for military purposes during the war.

Additional taxes on sugar.

Three bills for additional taxes on tobacco, matches and playing cards.

The vice-chancellor introduced the bills at the conclusion of a speech in which he outlined the financial program the new republic must adhere to if it hopes to fulfill its obligations and at the same time escape bankruptcy.

Germany's first step toward rehabilitation, said Dr. Erzberger, must be the restoration of life and labor throughout the republic; then she must turn her attention to the payment of war indemnities.

The vice-chancellor urged all Germans to cease talking of revenge on Germany's enemies and to get to work.

PLEDGE MUST BE KEPT.

"The word of the German republic must be honorable," he said. "We must not agitate for revenge or seek to show the justice of our cause.

"I am firmly resolved to tread the path of hard economy. Beginning the first of October there will be no more items of expenditure without details. The war finance system will cease. There will be no moreu nproductive expenditures. It is necessary for the propertied classes to surrender their superfluous riches.

"The government does not intend to annul the war loans. We must maintain the interest upon them. An inheritance tax and a big levy on property will be the inaugural steps. The republic's income must be increased 900 per cent., and that of the States and communes 100 per cent. Bankruptcy must not seize us."

The vice-chancellor was loudly applauded when he concluded.

MANY GERMAN PRINCES ASK TO BE TRIED

Hundreds Offer Themselves in Place of Ex-Kaiser for Arraignment

By ALFRED G. ANDERSEN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, July 9.—Several hundred German princes will present themselves before an allied tribunal and demand trial for the acts for which the ex-Kaiser is accused if the idea of Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Lippe is carried out.

The Prince, who is now residing at Frankfort-on-the-Oder, has sent telegrams to all German princes, simultaneously with the offer of Prince Eitel Friedrich, son of the ex-Kaiser, to substitute himself for his father for trial in London.

"German impotence," wired Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, "has brought on self-disarmament and has given our enemies a chance to satisfy their thirst for revenge with greedy manifestations, which demand our Emperor, who, until recently they envied.

"The degradation they want to bring on him also strikes us. Shall we stand aside when the Emperor treads the path of sorrow? It cannot, must not be. We German Princes, who stood close to him in the good times, followed him in war and in peace and carried the sword which was also his, we now stand by him, calling out to our enemies:

"'Take us for him, or with him.'

"German cousins, that is my call to you. Let us prove that German faithfulness still lives. It was a true oath we swore him for which so many of our blood, leading our brethren, died before the enemy. Let us be now in upholding German princely honor stand by the Kaiser with our lives."

Prince Eitel Friedrich today refused to add anything to the statement he made offering to place himself at the disposal of the allies as a substitute for his father.

"American correspondents must seek information elsewhere," he said over the telephone from Potsdam.

A monarchist organization called "The League of German men and women for the protection of the personal liberty of William II." has sent an open letter to the ex-Kaiser urging him to return to Germany, concluding with the Latin phrase:

"Ave imperator, moriturl te salutantunque."

CUT IN PAY OF SERVICE MEN STIRS VETS

Send Protest to Acting Mayor Against "Bonus" Deduction

Cuts in the salaries of service men employed by the City of Boston for bonuses and other reasons have brought forth a protest from the Michael J. Perkins Post of South Boston, American Legion, which has forwarded a communication to Acting Mayor Francis J. W. Ford, not having received any answer from the communication forwarded the mayor's office about a week ago.

More than seventy-five city employes are having their salary cut, and the post was enabled to obtain a partial list of service men who are being "docked" weekly. The amounts vary from $12.50 to more than $200 in one case. The local post is highly indignant that this condition exists, and feels that steps should be taken at once to remedy the matter.

The following is a partial list of city employes who served in the war and from whose salaries have been deducted various amounts:

WANTS TO DIE BECAUSE COUNTRY HAS GONE DRY

Los Angeles, July 9.—After swallowing poison in an attempt to die, E. H. Perry, twenty-six, a Los Angeles druggist, pleaded with police surgeons not to attempt to save his life, according to police reports.

5,000 VETERANS OF WAR SCORE LEAGUE

Flaherty Post, American Legion, Also Urge Recognition of Ireland in Resolution

Five thousand veterans of the World War, represented by the Lawrence J. Flaherty Post No. 30, American Legion, of East Boston, went on record as in favor of independence for Ireland and opposed to the League of Nations, at a special meeting and election in the Municipal Building.

The resolutions set forth that the soldiers fought with the understanding that no nation should be forced under a sovereignty which it did not desire, and that Ireland is "the only nation to which the right of statehood has been denied."

They declare, in part:

"That we demand and insist upon the recognition of the Republic of Ireland by our own government and the countries associated with us in the fight for the great principle of self-determination so nobly enunciated by our President during the course of the World War;

"That we are opposed to any League of Nations that guarantees the territorial integrity of the British and Japanese Empires, or any country or countries at the expense of the sovereignty of the United States; and

"That we are opposed to any covenant which blocks the recognition of the right of Ireland to self-determination."

Copies of the resolutions will be sent to President Wilson, President De Valera of the Irish Republic, and others.

Lieutenant John A. Campbell was elected commander of the post; Jeremiah P. Casey, vice-commander; Lieutenant Michael J. Lyons, adjutant; Matthew M. Leary, finance officer; George V. McNamara, historian; and Frank McGowan, chairman of publicity. One hundred and twenty-five dollars was raised toward a fund for sick and disabled members.

An active enrollment campaign will begin tonight, with registration headquarters in the old police station at Paris and Meridian streets. The headquarters will be opened for work at 7:30 p. m.

SENATE HAS BILL TO PAY BOMB PLOT DAMAGE

Judge Albert F. Hayden of the Roxbury Municipal Court will receive $6,000 and Representative Leland F. Powers of Newton $2,000 if a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator George E. Curran of Roxbury is passed by the State Legislature. The payments will be made in compensation for damages to their residences suffered by bombs at the time a country-wide attempt to terrorize public officials by blowing up their residences was discovered.

The bill was substituted in the Senate for a report of "no legislation" by the House Ways and Means Committee. Members of this committee explained their recommendation as expressing their objection to paying any compensation on account of the bad precedent it would establish which, in their opinion, would cost the State thousands of dollars.

Runaway Monkeys Are Once More In Captivity

North Adams, July 9.—Jerry, the missing monk of one pair that escaped from a carnival show here last week, now reposes in the barn of W. H. Crews on Phelps avenue.

After Jerry's mate, Tom, was captured, Jerry came down to see what it was all about. He was seated on top of a culvert near the far end of the carnival grounds when Mr. Crews came along in his auto truck.

Mr. Crews is an adept with the lasso and quickly coiled a rope and slipped it over Jerry's head, much to the disgust and chagrin of the monk, and succeeded in getting Jerry into the auto.

FIRST ARREST MADE UNDER 'DRY' LAW

Boston Liquor Men May Take Case to Supreme Court

No further arrests will be made in the beer cases, Mr. Goldberg told the Boston American today, and the Vogel case, which is to test the whole matter, will be hurried through as fast as possible.

The beer in question was purchased at this firm's place of business under the direction of George E. Kelleher, who is head of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice.

In the information it is set forth that the beer purchased was not intended for export purposes but for beverage purposes, and that in both weight and volume the sale of it was contrary to the form of the statute in such cases provided. Both men, it was believed, will be released on $500 bail following their arraignment.

The virtual arrest of the two dealers was the only fireworks in the heralded reopening of Boston's bars, cafes and hotels.

The crowds were not there; in another sense the beer sold was not "there," at least in the opinion of the sparse gathering of enthusiasts who attended the reopening. Disgust was writ large on the features of scores as they imbibed the newly liberated lotions, sold under the guise of 2¾ per cent intoxicants.

Customers were few and far between. This saloon had two, this three. Not a score of them had a dozen customers lined before their bars at once except at noontime.

"KICK" IS MISSING.

But the stage was set. The places were open. The bars were there and the brass rails polished to a high shine. The faces of the bartenders shined, too. Rested, after a week of drouth and an enforced vacation, they smilingly, with a sort of hail-hail-the-gang's-all-here twist of feature that reflected their supreme content at once again officiating at a spigot flowing stuff with a real head on it, and patiently awaited the gang. They were glad to see everyone, pathetically and eagerly glad, it seemed.

A few of the old-timers drifted in here and there. Their advent met with loud acclaim. A smiling greeting and a happy handshake was the rule. And then the 2¾ per cent—and a sour face. Accustomed feet slid onto the rail of brass, elbows leaned on familiar counters. There were the usual topics, baseball, the fights and prohibition, and again the sip and the sour face. Something slipped somewhere and somehow it was all hollow.

Most of the saloons claimed the goods they were selling were 2¾ per cent. Customers by the score, with wry faces, refused to believe it. The stuff seemed to taste exceedingly thin.

Only Ten Arrests for Intoxication in a Day: Year Ago There Were 130

The best proof that the so-called 2¾ per cent beer, ale and porter is non-intoxicating is seen in the police records of arrests for intoxication since "the places" re-opened.

Figures made public at police headquarters indicate that three of the ten persons arrested in Boston yesterday were women. On July 8, a year ago, 120 men and ten women were arrested, the number of women locked up on the corresponding day a year ago being as great as the total of arrests made yesterday.

The record of arrests for intoxication yesterday was: Hanover Street Station, three men, one woman; Joy Street Station, two men, one woman; Lagrange Street Station, one man; Jamaica Plain Station, one man; Back Bay Station, one woman.

STRIKE MAY CUT OUT POPULAR CIGARS

Supply Running Short, Says Union Leader; Employers Still Firm

Boston cigar smokers may be unable to enjoy their favorite brand of "smokes" in a few more weeks unless some change comes in the strike of local cigar makers. According to the cigarmakers there is already an acute shortage in certain popular brands manufactured here.

G. A. Rothfuss, secretary of the local cigar manufacturers' association, said today there had been on change in the strike situation so far as the manufacturers were concerned.

Meanwhile the workers assemble daily at their headquarters, No. 15 Appleton street, to discuss the strike and hear reports from their chairman, William Collins. Letters of encouragement have been received from cigar makers in other parts of the country. Similar strikes are on in many cities in Pennsylvania and the Middle West.

There are still approximately 2,000 cigar makers of the Boston district out on strike. Another small shop, employing twenty workmen, has capitulated and the cigar makers there have returned to their tables. All of the big manufacturing concerns, eight in number, remain obdurate. One shop in New York city, a branch of a local cigar manufacturer, and which is controlled by the Boston Cigar Makers' Union, is closed with its 300 employes out on strike.

Faneuil Hall has been engaged by the cigar makers for their regular meeting Friday night.

Word has been received by the Boston cigarmakers that several big Canadian plants which have been closed on account of strikes have been opened by acceding to the strikers' demands. These are located in Toronto, London and Hamilton.

Twenty-five cigarmakers have already gone to Canada to work, and, according to Chairman Collins, many more are contemplating going.

Boston cigarmakers are asking a wage increase of 33 1-3 per cent, and the right to have a grievance committee in every shop. No word has yet been received from the State Board regarding the local situation.

FRENCH PRESS ANGRY OVER FIUME CLASHES

Paris, July 9.—The French press commented in an angry tone today over Italian reports of the clashes between French and Italian troops in Fiume. "The alliances are now at stake," wrote Pertinax in the Echo de Paris. The Petit Journal declared the Italians evidently wish to end the occupation of Fiume by international troops by rendering the stay of allied forces in the city impossible. Fiume is the chief object of dispute between the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs.

The horse is owned by Joseph Shafferman, who was thrown from his seat to the pavement, and was taken to Somerville Hospital, suffering from injuries to the head.

Big Oaks From Little Acorns Grow--Proof Is Here

Kalamath Falls, Ore., July 9.—A dog chased a cat, the cat climbed a pole, two horses were killed, a fire alarm started and one man was made penniless. And all because the dog saw the cat. Here's how it happened:

A prowling feline disturbed the slumbers of Tige. He chased her up a telephone pole and, posing high on a cross arm, she switched her tail in anger. Her fore paws were on a wire. Her tail touched another. A circuit was thus completed between the two wires, burning them through and killing the cat. One wire fell to the ground, came in contact with a team of horses belonging to C. V. Berry, and killed both horses.

Berry recently came from California and had bought the team with his last dollar, hoping to do road work.

IRISH MISSION BACK FULL OF CONFIDENCE

Partial Admission of Erin's Rights Forced from England, Declare Envoys

By Universal Service

New York, July 9.—Edward F. Dunne and Frank P. Walsh, with their secretary, Patrick Lee, Irish-American delegates sent to petition the peace conference to provide freedom for Ireland, have arrived here on the French liner Savoy from Havre.

"The press of Europe rings with demands for Irish freedom," declared Mr. Walsh, speaking also for Mr. Dunne. "Nobody with the single exception of England is offering Ireland a dominion government. The sentiment is for a free Ireland, which means more than a dominion government can offer.

"Unless Ireland gets freedom within the next few weeks this feeling and support will be extended."

Hundreds of hearty supporters of the Irish freedom movement were on the French line pier to meet the returning delegates. The Stars and Stripes and the flag of the Irish republic were waved as the crowd cheered the delegates and the cause they represented.

Among those on the pier were the wives of the three representatives of the Irish republic, Dr. Patrick McCartin, ambassador to the United States of the Irish republic; Patrick McIntyre, legal adviser to the commission; Michael J. Lee and Harry Boland, secretary to President De Valera.

SATISFIED WITH MISSION.

The delegates and members of the reception committee were driven to the headquarters of the Irish republic at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where President Eamon De Valera awaited them.

After conferring with President De Valera, Mr. Dunne made the following statement:

"We are satisfied that our mission accomplished most, if not all, that we set out to achieve. The case of Ireland before the world's peace conference was being deliberately ignored prior to our arrival in Paris and was treated by England with her usual unconcern and contempt.

"We compelled the castle authorities in Dublin and finally the whole English and Irish press to take up and discuss the scandal of military occupation and oppression.

"We compelled them to admit the right by trial by jury, the right of habeas corpus.

MUST BE SETTLED BY WORLD.

"We have, we believe, demonstrated to the American commission, as the representatives of Ireland have demonstrated to the world's conference, that the Irish question is an international problem that must be settled and solved by the Irish people with the approval of the people of the world and not by the British Parliament.

"We are confident of the outcome. Eighty per cent. of the people of Ireland demand a republic, have organized a republic, and are endeavoring to function as a republic, and its people will not be content with anything but a republic.

"A gigantic military machine equipped with machine guns and armored cars, and the imprisonment of their trusted leaders alone prevent the full operation of a republican government.

"The Irish race, both in Ireland and abroad, intends to keep up the fight for an Irish republic until the flag of that republic floats over every inch of Irish soil."

INSTALLS MIRROR CURTAIN IN LONDON THEATRE

By Universal Service.

London, July 9.—James M. Barrie has a new hunch for a drop curtain. Believing that London theatregoers may be tired of gazing at drop-curtains showing a harlequin waving a wand or a voluptuous maiden lolling by a marble fountain, an immense mirror will be installed as the drop-scene at the Little Theatre, recently purchased by Albert de Courville, London's premier play producer. The idea is Barrie's.

"My mirror curtain will provide amusement for the audience during the waits and give them the novel experience of seeing what the audience looks like from the stage," says De Courville. "I shall rename the theatre the 'Looking Glass.'"

Mrs. Andrews denies her husband's charge that she threatened him with a gun.

SHOES WILL COST MORE IF WORN, HIGHER

Cleveland, July 9.—Of course, if the girls insist on wearing 'em higher this Winter the shoes likewise will have to be higher.

That, according to shoe manufacturers, fair warning is given that the price will be higher. European buyers have stripped the American leather market, the shoemakers say, and leather worth forty-seven cents a foot a week ago is now selling for seventy-two cents.

Macon, Ga., July 9.—Georgia peaches this year are expected to be of exceptionally high quality.

There has been no freeze to hurt the fruit in its infancy, and in every way weather conditions have been ideal. The crop, however, will not be as heavy as last year's bumper crop. The output this year is estimated at about 7,000 cars, against 9,000 last year.

HIGHER STATE INCOME TAX IS SOUGHT

Bill Reported Affecting Professional and Business Earnings

A tax bill to provide that the collection of taxes on incomes shall be made this year and in 1920 on a basis of 1 per cent higher in so far as it affects individuals in the professions, employments, trade or business, has been reported by the House Committee on Ways and Means.

Under existing rates this tax is collected on the basis of 1½ per cent of the excess above $1,000 for a single person, or $2,000 for a married man with two or more children.

Under the bill just reported, if it is enacted by the Legislature, the collection of this tax in 1919 and 1920 will be at the rate of 2½ per cent.

A hearing was held on the measure by the committee and Corporation Counsel Alexander Whiteside of Boston appeared as an advocate of its passage.

The bill is a substitute for the 10 per cent additional war tax collected on 1917 incomes. On a total tax of $13,000,000 this additional tenth netted $1,300,000. It is estimated that the additional tax provided for in the bill just reported will raise $2,000,000 a year.

WOMAN POLICE PROBER HOLDS SECRETS

Charges Providence Officers with Persecuting Her and Threatens Disclosures

Providence, July 9.—Mary Corenzi, a police "investigator," threatens to make sensational disclosures and bare police secrets as a result of what she terms "framing" by policemen who are charged with making life miserable for her. She has asked high police officials to investigate her charges.

The woman investigator is credited with sending a police officer to the hospital four years ago, for which she admits she was fined the sum of $270 and says that her troubles dated from that time.

While officials admit a complaint has been made they refuse to discuss the merits of the case and the police commissioners will be asked to take a hand in the battle.

GERMAN CANNON ARE AWARDED AS PRIZES

Liberty Loan Trophies Won in N. E. by Waterbury, Quincy, Portsmouth and Billerica

The four pieces of captured German field ordnance, which were offered by the Treasury Department through the Liberty Loan Committee of New England as prizes, have been awarded.

The communities in the First Federal Reserve District having quotas assigned them were divided into four groups, according to the population as reported by the United States census of 1910. These four groups were as follows:

1—All cities with a population of 50,000 or over.

2—Cities and towns with a population from 20,000 to 50,000.

3—Cities and towns with a population from 5,000 to 20,000.

4—Cities and towns with a population under 5,000.

The offer was to award a captured German field piece to that town or city in each one of the foregoing groups which shows the largest percentage of individual subscribers to the Victory Loan based upon the population of 1910.

The following towns received the award:

In group 1, Waterbury, Ct., its percentage of individual subscribers to population being .3691; Worcester, Mass., was next in line, with a percentage of .2041; the third competitor was New Haven, Ct., with a percentage of .2009.

In group 2, Quincy, Mass., won the gun, having attained a percentage of .4625, with New Britain as a runner-up with a percentage of .3018; the third town in this group was Pittsfield, with a percentage of .2834.

In group 3, Portsmouth, N. H., made the astonishing percentage of .6737. Watertown, Mass., was second with a percentage of .3845, and Peabody, Mass., third, with a percentage of .3679.

In group 4, Billerica, Mass., reached the percentage of .6884. The second town in the group was Plainville, Conn., which had a percentage of .4847. Randolph, N. H., with a percentage of .4379 was very closely followed by Russell, Mass., with a percentage of .4373.

These awards have been reported to the Treasury Department in Washington, and the Liberty Loan Committee of New England is advised that the guns are ready to be shipped.

MOTOR NEWS and NOTES

C.F. DONNOCKER
Automobile Editor

THIS STREET IS IN SUCH BAD REPAIR THAT MOTORISTS SHUN IT

Here is another picture of one of the worst streets in the city. This thoroughfare was formerly a most important highway. It leads from Market street, Brighton, to Central Square, Cambridge, and passes by the Harvard Stadium. Now it is practically deserted by all traffic on account of the condition of the paving. The photo can hardly reproduce the condition this street is in, but the taxpayers are paying for better things than this.

TIRES NOT HURT BY DRIVING IN WATER

Effect of Wetting Is Practically Nothing, Declare Experts

Now and then in the course of an automobile trip a car has to pass through a stream, and the question is sometimes discussed whether the action of the water is harmful to the tires. The same question arises when a car is out in a heavy rain.

The United States Tire Company answers the question by stating that the effect of such a wetting is practically nothing at all, either for damage or improvement. At any rate the effect on the tire is not harmful.

The two chief constituents of a tire are rubber and cotton, both vegetable substances, and as a rule water does not injure vegetable matter.

If running through a brook resulted in cooling a tire, the effect would be decidedly beneficial, but a quick dash through the water has little effect on the heated air within the tire and consequently the temperature change in the tire after its bath is negligible.

ESTA ELIMINATOR CLEANS OUT CARBON

The Esta Carbon Eliminator is one of the little things which can be added to the car that assists materially in the running. Water or kerosene can be used and this removes the carbon and keeps the engine comparatively free from it. If the engine is dirty with carbon it should be flushed out with the instrument at least once a week. The black smoke coming out during the operation denotes that the carbon is being removed. Doing this four or five times will probably clean out any motor.

The mixture of water or water and kerosene is taken into the cylinders and vaporized. The live steam from the water cuts the carbon from the cylinder walls and also cleans the valves. The Beacon Sales Company, local distributors, claim that the Esta will add to the mileage of any car and keep it comparatively free from carbon.

MAYOR PROBES ICE TRUST AT LAWRENCE

Charge Dealers Shun Tenement District and Children Suffer

Lawrence, July 9.—An investigation into the ice business in this city is under way, following complaints made to Mayor John J. Hurley regarding the manner in which local ice companies were conducting their business. Mayor Hurley has made a personal inquiry which may be followed by a public hearing to which all ice men will be summoned to answer questions about the formation of trusts here.

Complaints have poured into the offices of the city fathers relative to residents in various parts of the city who were unable to get ice. Cases were called to the attention of the Mayor where families having children suffered during the extreme hot weather for lack of ice. The ice men claim they are compelled to conserve their supply due to shortage.

Tenement districts are said to have been shunned by the ice men when the product was most needed. Ice kings in Lawrence are charged with selling to "customers only."

According to evidence in the hands of the city authorities the ice men have combined among themselves to sell only to their own customers. It is further claimed that the ice men have formed a patronage agreeing to deliver only in certain sections of the city.

Ice in Lawrence has reached a record high figure, and the promise is that it is going higher. The city has been unable to make a contract with any of the ice companies for ice to be used in the drinking fountains. The ice men insist on getting the "long" price wherever the product is sold, claiming that it is more a matter of supply with them than price.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Mr. Fixit will answer questions through this column every Wednesday.

Mr. Fixit: When throwing out my clutch it seems to drag, causing the gears to clash when shifting. It is a cone clutch. Is there anything I can do to it? TOURIST.
Waltham, Mass.

Your clutch does not fully release. It may be dry, causing the clutch to drag, as you say. Try a little castor oil on it. This should be put on sparingly and worked thoroughly into the leather by putting the car in first speed and just letting the clutch in enough to allow it to rub against the flywheel without fully taking hold. See that your clutch pedal is working to the full extent and throws the clutch way out. Also look at the clutch brake; it may need castor oil.

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have been having trouble with my spark plugs and have been told that the points are too far apart. What is the proper distance to have them? WORRIED.
Ashmont.

About the thickness of an ordinary penknife blade. Some companies furnish you with a little guage, which is a handy thing to have when making adjustments.

Mr. Fixit: I have a Dixie magneto on my car and was told to keep it oiled. I must have used too much, as it does not run properly. Will you kindly give me instructions for oiling it? A. D. S.
Roxbury.

The best advice I can give you is the following, sent out by the Splitdorf company:

Excessive oiling of a magneto can do nearly as much harm as insufficient lubrication. One thing it does is to cause the surplus oil to be thrown into the distributor, where it works all kinds of mischief. It gets between the brush and the contacts, and either insulates them from each other entirely, causing missing, or it causes arcing. Arcing, in turn, burns the oil and forms soot, which soon gums things up badly; and it also produces heat, which disintegrates the carbon brush and causes it to crumble in time.

All magneto manufacturers make their distributors so that they may be removed easily and wiped clean with a dry cloth. Dixie magnetos, for instance, have their distributors held on by three little clips retained by three thumb nuts. These may be loosened by hand, the clips turned aside and the distributor cover comes off in the hand. Other Dixies have three screws to retain the cover. Some have a central revolving brush and stationary contacts in the cover and others a revolving contact and individual stationary contacts in the cover. The brushes in either case are attached to small springs and may be slipped into or out of their sockets by hand.

Dear Mr. Fixit: My car seems to overheat all the time. It is impossible to drive it over fifteen miles an hour without the water bubbling out of the radiator cap. What is the matter? A. W.
Framingham.

Overheating is very common, especially in Summer. See that the fan belt is working properly. Examine the hose connections to see that there is no obstruction like worn pieces of the hose, which obstruct the flow. Probably your water jacket and radiator are fouled with rust and dirt. Ordinary washing soda will cut out the grease and dirt, and if this is put in the radiator and the engine started so that it is pumped around it will probably clean out the whole system. This water must be drained off and fresh put in. Also see that the pump is working right. If the water coming from the radiator is clear after the operation, it will show that the system has been cleaned out. Your oiling system may not be working properly. You can run out of gas without causing any damage, except to your feelings, but your motor must have oil.

PROUTY DEATH TRIAL OPENS IN VERMONT

Victim's Chauffeur Denies He Stated They Heard Train Approaching

Newport, Vt., July 9.—In Federal Court here before Judge Harland B. Howe, the suit against the Grand Trunk Railway for $300,000 for the death of former Governor George H. Prouty of this city is being tried.

The suit is brought by the widow and her chief counsel, Charles A. Prouty of Washington, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and brother of the deceased. John W. Redmond of Newport is defending the Canadian railroad.

Governor Prouty and his chauffeur, James Blay, were struck by a train at Waterville, P. Q., on the morning of August 19. Governor Prouty was instantly killed and the chauffeur so badly injured that he was deranged for several days by the shock. Incorporated in the suit is the claim of $7,000 for the loss of the automobile.

Blay testified that he stopped his car about one hundred and sixty feet from the crossing. Both looked up and down the track, but saw no train. As the morning was foggy they could not see far. After being struck by the train the chauffeur said he recalled nothing until he found himself in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Attorney Redmond in cross-examination brought out the fact that at the inquest soon after the accident Blay testified that he slowed down his machine as he approached the crossing. When Governor Prouty asked what the matter was he was told by Blay that he heard a train coming.

Blay testified he did not remember ever making such a statement and that for several days after the accident his mind and memory were badly confused.

THRILLING WAR PICTURES EXHIBITED ON COMMON

Thrilling pictures telling graphic stories of the battlefields, quaint towns, and ancient European hamlets, where the doughboys fought in Flanders and France throughout the western war area, taken by the Government official photographer, have been received at Liberty Hall on the Common, the headquarters of the Mayor's Reception Committee, are creating wide interest among returning service men.

Seventeen of these photographs, enlarged and surpassingly clear, are now on exhibition, and are offered for sale. These pictures are being sold on a commission basis by the Mayor's Reception Committee, and the commissions are to be used for the carrying on of the work of this committee, in aiding returned service men.

Among these are many which will be particularly familiar to members of the 26th Division, and other soldiers from Boston.

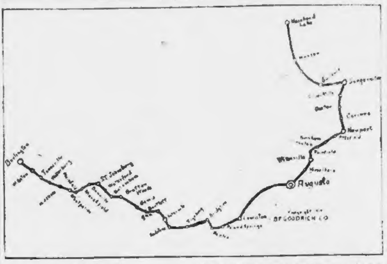
MOUNTAIN TRIP BY AUTO RICH IN LUXURY

Second Instalment of Vacation Carries Tourists to Champlain District

This is the second installment of the Boston American's Vacation Auto trip. It will be published in full with maps of each section. Save the issues, which appear each Wednesday, and have complete directions for the whole trip.

TRY THIS IN YOUR AUTO



The American publishes today the second installment of the two weeks' vacation trip. The route leads from Moosehead Lake, through Augusta, Lewiston and Poland Spring, then up through the famous White Mountains via Intervale, Bretton Woods to St. Johnsbury, Vt., and on to Burlington on the shores of the beautiful Lake Champlain.

The distance is 344.5 miles, and can be done in easy stages, making stops for a day or so at the numerous watering places along the way.

The grandeur of the White Mountains is something that will long be remembered and is probably unsurpassed for scenery anywhere in the United States.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR THE AMERICAN SIX

The remarkable reception given the American Six has completely sold out the cars on the floor, but a new shipment was received this week, which makes immediate deliveries possible.

H. D. Dockray, president of the New England American Motor Car Corporation, said that the car was selling beyond his expectations, but that the proximity to the factory at Plainfield, N. J., made it possible to drive them over the roads. This is an important asset to them in making deliveries.

This is the car that Louis Chevrolet, the famous racing driver and engineer, has designed and inspected and every model bears his stamp of approval. The salesrooms on Massachusetts avenue prove an interesting spot for purchasers who can see the car as it is from the stripped chassis which is displayed on the floor.

DERF
SPARK PLUGS

Conqueror of a Hundred Fields

No other spark plug has ever equalled the marvelous record made by the Derf. Time after time, in test after test, it has come out a proved victor.

Why? Because it is built on the best idea—the one big idea: a 360 point, circle-within-a-circle surface for sparking. Naturally there can be no miss fires—no failure to function from oil splashes, dirt or carbon. And the fat spark fires a leaner mixture, giving you 25% to 35% more mileage out of your gasoline.

All this has been proved. The Automobile Club of America and the Motor Truck Club of America proved that the Derf will save 25% gasoline; The Tower Motor Co., in an Overland Dependability run, proved that, for 7 days and 7 nights continuous run, the Derf never once missed fire. Packard Motors Efficiency test showed that Derf was the most economical as well as efficient. The N. Y. Herald-Government Fuel Economy test proved Derf the winner—not only in less fuel used, but it fired the car that won the hill climb!

What Derf Spark Plugs have done in these tests they will do in your car. You'll get the greatest satisfaction from using these plugs. Buy them today. $6.20 for four, $9.30 for six.

MILLION HOMES NEEDED, SAYS TINKHAM

Puts Bill Into Congress for Housing Bureau to Solve Living Conditions

Representative George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts, member of the House Committee on Appropriations, has introduced before Congress a bill creating in the Department of Labor a Bureau of Housing and Living Conditions.

The Tinkham bill will empower the proposed bureau to investigate the housing and living conditions of the industrial population of the United States. It provides for research and experimentation with a view to the provision and publication of information to make economically practicable the elimination of slums, the improvement of living conditions, the reduction of the construction cost of dwellings and the financing of extended home-building operations without Federal appropriation.

It will furthermore assist communities in making available to the utmost extent all existing housing facilities, and serve as a clearing house of information on housing and living conditions.

DIRECTOR AT $6,000 A YEAR.

Under the terms of this bill the Secretary of Labor will be empowered to appoint a director of this bureau at $6,000 per annum, and all archives of the United States Housing Corporation and the Housing and Transportation Division of the Emergency Fleet Corporation not in active use will be transferred to the bureau.

The Boston Congressman, referring to his bill, said:

"The federal government, as a result of its war housing program, in which has been expended approximately $110,000,000 to build homes for industrial workers, has accumulated a vast fund of information and experience on industrial housing which should be made available to every community in the United States.

"No existing agency of the government is now authorized to collect, analyze, correlate and interpret this experience and to make it available to the country. My bill, if enacted into law, offers the greatest opportunity before the federal government for salvaging permanent values from our enormous war expenditures.

MILLION HOMES NEEDED.

"The cessation of home building during the war has resulted in a shortage of more than a million homes, and the communities in all parts of the country are seeking ways and means to relieve the acute situation which confronts them.

"Every country in Europe has taken governmental action to enable the industrial worker to provide his family with a house and decent living conditions.

"There is no valid reason, in my opinion, why the United States should not take up this most beneficent project, which, on account of the rapid growth of urban population would have forced the housing and living conditions problem on the attention of the nation even though construction had not been stopped by the war."

SCHOOLGIRL, 16, EARNS $16 BY KILLING 6 WOLVES

Richmond, Mo., July 9.—Rose Mary Bowers, a sixteen-year-old Richmond school girl, earned $16 in a way that probably few other girls would care to take to earn money. While out walking on her grandfather's farm she saw a young wolf at the entrance of a den and, after going for her grandfather's help, crawled into the den and killed the mother wolf and five cubs.

HOLDUP "EXCUSES" YANK, BUT ROBS TAXI DRIVER

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—Even a burglar has a conscience when it comes to holding up a soldier and taking all the latter's money, jeopardizing his return to camp and subsequent danger of court martial for non-appearance.

This was proven when Harry Estabrook encountered a masked bandit as he stepped from a taxi to board a train for a return trip to camp. Estabrook, a soldier, explained his predicament to the burglar, who, without hesitation, let him go and held up the taxi driver instead.

PINS MEDAL ON HIMSELF, THEN DODGES PUBLICITY

San Francisco, July 9.—Major-General John F. Morrison, commanding officer of the Western Department, is wearing the ribbon of the Distinguished Service Medal recently awarded him by the government for meritorious work in the training of American soldiers for service in France.

True to his natural modesty and well-known dislike for publicity, no ceremony attended the bestowal of the medal. General Morrison, being the commanding officer of the Western Department and the ranking officer on the Pacific Coast, simply pinned the medal on himself.

GETS FINED TWICE FOR SAME OLD DRINK

Indianapolis, July 9.—"Judge, this is not a new drunk. It is the same drunk I had when I was here the other day," Dan Shears told the police judge when arraigned charged with drunkeness, "and I was fined for that drunk."

But the judge was not taking any chances and fined him $1 and costs the second time.

Looses Teeth by Sneeze

Eugene, Ore., July 9.—H. D. Chamberlain, standing on the dock at West, a coast town, sneezed and lost his false teeth. Net cost, including parcel post, $40.

SHIPPING 25 MILLION POUNDS OF SPUDS EAST

Portland, Ore., July 9.—Twenty-five million pounds of potatoes have left here for the Chicago market.

The huge tonnage of murphys were contracted for by the government for the purposes of dehydration in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. But Major Frank Tingley, commanding the Quartermaster Corps, Northwest Division, thought to "dump" such an amount on this market would lessen the value of the spuds. So he told them in the East, and thereby put across the biggest potato deal ever made in the United States.

AUTOPSY AIDS DEFENCE OF HARRY NEW'S LOVE TRAGEDY

Los Angeles, July 9.—An elaborate defence will be prepared to save Harry S. New, Jr., said to be a son of United States Senator New of Indiana, from the gallows for the murder of his twenty-year-old fiancee, Miss Freida Lesser, in Topango canyon.

A lawyer of national fame, it is said, will be employed to fight for the life of New. The money for this attorney, according to unverified reports, will come from a man close to Senator New and direct from the senator's pocketbook.

Although New st[illegible] charged today [illegible] with having shot and killed his sweetheart, Attorney John [illegible], the prisoner's counsel, declares the autopsy performed on the body of Freda Lesser, and which proved that she was to become a mother, has helped New's case immeasurably.

New's first statement was that he shot Freda Lesser when she told him she had seen a nurse, a friend, who would have an operation performed to prevent her from becoming the mother of his child.

URGED GIRL TO WED.

This corroboration of New's first story as the reason for his act will be used, it is said, to prove that the girl's declaration temporarily unbalanced New's mind. New, it will be shown, placed his sole hope for happiness in the girl whom he alleged was to bring him a baby and he had offered marriage and pleaded with the girl to immediately become his wife. Her refusal drove him to worse than desperation, it will be said.

Mrs. A[illegible] Lesser, Freda's mother, and all the girl's friends stoutly maintained from the start that New's story that Freda was to become a mother was a lie.

20 GALLONS OF RUM STOWED ABOARD R-34

Mineola, L. I., July 9.—Light west wind have supplanted the strong head winds which threatened to keep the British dirigible R-34 from returning to Europe for several days and tentative plans this afternoon called for her departure at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Half an hour after she hoists anchor at the Roosevelt Field, the R-34 will sail over New York. Searchlights will be played upon her until she bids farewell to New York and heads out over the Statue of Liberty on the trip home.

About a ton and a half of provisions were stored at the field today and will be placed aboard as soon as positive assurance is received that the start will be made tomorrow morning. Mineola meat markets have been asked to hold themselves in readiness to furnish a large supply of fresh meat to be roasted a few hours before the R-34 soars away.

Twenty gallons of rum went aboard the dirigible this noon and a rum ration will be served out to the crew on the return voyage. No one would explain where the rum came from.

Now You May Eat More Beef and Lamb

The war is over; and all restrictions on meat are off.

Now you may eat all you want with a free conscience—beef, lamb, veal—three times a day if you wish.

You have done splendidly; you have helped win the war by denying yourself meat, as you have in dozens of other ways.

But you needn't hold off any more; it's over "over there" forever.

Most of the boys are back at work; army meat demands are no longer a strain.

England and other European Countries do not have to depend solely upon us any more. Ever since the beginning of the war, the American live stock raiser has been raising so much more live stock that there is plenty to go 'round.

So, go back to your meat and enjoy it.

How to Play Baseball

THIS is the thirty-ninth of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson Mr. Fullerton [illegible] to tell how to become a pitcher. These articles [illegible] a feature of the American's sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

Pitching differs from throwing. Yet in throwing either from the infield or outfield the principle is the same with the exception that the pitcher can take time to adjust his distance, study his target and plan in advance just what he will do with the ball.

[illegible] throwing with [illegible] arm [illegible] "flat footed" [illegible] was done in the [illegible] entirely out of [illegible] essentially wrong. [illegible] attempts to [illegible] one is doomed [illegible]

DEMPSEY'S LEFT IS WORTH MILLION DOLLARS

By TAD.

All of the heavyweight champions from the days of Jim Corbett down to the present time have had great left hands. Billy Delaney, the man who brought Corbett and Jeffries to the front, once said: "I wouldn't look twice at a man who hasn't got a good left hand. Delaney ould know. He was one of the smartest men that ever handled a boxer.

Jack Dempsey, our new champion, has a wonderful left. It was with that hand that he toppled over the ammoth Willard.

Like Sullivan, Dempsey has two [illegible] mitts. He plays no favorites. he has shown upon more than one on that his left is as dangerous s right.

n Corbett made the left hand fa- s in the Queensberry game. Be- came the big boys just socked another until something flopped t came with a brand new style. as the left jab and the dancellivan, the unbeatable, was first smell it. He was left-handed out his title after twenty-one rounds constant jabbing.

After Corbett came Fitz and his ft was a marvel. The shift and ook that were both done with the ft paw will never be forgotten.

Jim Jeffries came next, and a better ft hand than he packed has seldom n seen. His crouch was a sort of defence and it helped him hook his derrick-like left to either the y or head. It was a bone crusher anytime it landed against an opponent's chin, he began hearing the ds. Corbett and Fitz each ran t on two different occasions.

ter left, came Johnson with a cat- left. It was snappy and fast was famous for his right-hand up- t but the left started everything im.

s Willard, with a left like the of the law, followed Johnson. beat the latter in Havana with hand. He kept sticking it out. d after round, tiring out the great and finally knocking him out or forcing him to play dead. We are not sure yet which it was, but he won and the left did the trick.

Today we have Dempsey with a left that's worth not a cent less than a million dollars.

BOXING NEWS AND GOSSIP

By JACK CONWAY.

American boxing promoters are already talking about a bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight. There are also rumblings of a match between Dempsey and Joe Beckett, boss of England's big fighters.

From a financial standpoint the proposed contest between Dempsey and Carpentier looms up as the best prospect. But it's only a prospect.

When the war clouds gathered in the Summer of 1914, Carpentier was one of the world's greatest heavyweights. He had beaten every boxer [illegible] his weight in Europe of any pro[illegible].

If it had not been for the war, [illegible] would have received the first [illegible] at Jack Johnson and he might have beaten him.

Four years of active warfare has not aided Carpentier as a boxer. He didn't have any safety first berth during the big scrap. He fought with the infantry and later with the flyers of France. He knows the thrill of having a machine gun clog during an engagement with an enemy [illegible]. He also experienced all [illegible] which come to an aviator when his engine goes dead while thousands of feet in the air.

The life of a soldier and aviator naturally took much out of Carpentier. At one time he was in such poor physical condition it was necessary for the French government to send him to a rest resort for a long [illegible]. He was later ordered not to do [illegible] flying. He spent the closing days of the war giving exhibitions of boxing at the various French army camps.

[illegible] today is twenty-six [illegible] as many hardships as the Frenchman he is not expected to possess all of [illegible]

[illegible] back [illegible] Let Carpentier beat four or five fairly good heavyweights and win and he would be a bigger attraction against Dempsey.

A Dempsey-Carpentier tussle would not go big in America just now. It might be a different story if the affair was staged in Paris. Over in the gay French [illegible] they still consider Georges the greatest of all fighters.

Billy Miske would not be a poor opponent for Dempsey in a six-round contest. He's already held the champion even in matches at ten and six rounds and has not any fear of the punches which laid Willard low. Dempsey apparently is a type of fighter who must get over a knockout in the first three rounds to win. His record bears out this statement. And it is mighty difficult for anybody to get over a [illegible] on a fast moving fighter like the St. Paul [illegible].

The fans who saw the Dempsey-Willard [illegible] at the way Willard [illegible] left jabs and right-hand punches. This recalled to the old-timers the career of Jack McAuliffe who retired from the ring as an undefeated lightweight champion. After years in the ring, McAuliffe one day put on the gloves in a friendly setto. He was unable to hit his opponent with any degree of certainty.

Onlookers thought McAuliffe was not trying. [illegible] knew better, he [illegible] his judgment of distance and that he could not hit WHERE HE SAW. He then quit [illegible] trouble with Willard. He was apparently as strong [illegible] at Toledo. But his judgment of distance was gone. And when a fighter is in that state he is [illegible] helpless.

Two big regular races are scheduled and two or three other little features not on the program are hinted at for tonight at the Revere cycle track.

The second feature is a twenty-five mile motor-paced race with Sborry, Carman and Madonna facing the starter. The Italian champion is flying at present and it is rumored around the training quarters that he is going after some new records.

The timers at the recent races at [illegible] boy with some extra fast [illegible] if he can establish some [illegible] are to stand for some time, for at present none of his rivals [illegible] the two against him together [illegible] traveling in anything like his form.

Some fireworks are almost sure in the five-mile open pro event. The field is all speed and with Sullivan, Logan and Markey laid up, the race has developed [illegible] for himself event.

Chandler is the favorite and if he avoids these so-called pockets which he seems to have a faculty of falling into, the colored boy should win easily, although Thomas and Rollins as well as the Connolly boys are sure to be right up with him at the finish.

"Can't you wait till the end of the act?" asked Jim with impatience that said clearly, "Let me alone. Don't you see I want to enjoy the show?"

I was hurt and crept into my shell, making no effort to change Jim's mood. "I am glad to see you," I said in amazement that this could be true.

Tom Mason's warm devotion saved me from doing what my sensitiveness or jealousy feared: an object of pity to all observers. But nothing could make it really "palatable" to me. When, at our after-theatre supper, Evvy languished through the waltzes with Jim—whose ankle generally protected him from being ranked as a dancing man—I tried to comfort myself with twinkly little fox-trots with Tom. It didn't work. But I no longer felt an actual aversion for the man—even the blue robe was forgotten until he recalled it at parting.

"We've had a happy evening, haven't we, Donna Anna? Much better than last night. You're looking sweeter than you did then."

"Well for an interior decorator, you're easily fooled!" I laughed. "I'm wearing the selfsame dress I wore last night."

"I know," he said seriously, "but it's suitable tonight. Last night you should have worn the blue robe. Aren't you ever going to make me happy by letting me see how lovely you are in that [illegible]"

GEN. ELECTRIC IS A TRADING FEATURE

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong and the market active in New York at noon. Prices, however, were below their highest for the morning. Business was of large volume. First hour transactions were totaled about 450,000 shares. Call money opened at 9 per cent.

General Electric was a second hour feature, showing a gain of more than five points at its highest. Other especially strong issues were Canadian Pacific, White Motor, Savage, Stutz Motor, American Bosch Magneto, Chandler, Maxwell, Mexican Petroleum, Texas Co., Midvale, Studebaker, Westinghouse and United Cigar Stores. They advanced from one to nine points.

There were a few weak spots in the list, Central Leather and International Paper being off a point at noon.

U. S. Steel had receded ⅛ to 112⅞, after ranging from 112⅝ to 113⅜.

Highest record prices were attained by Chandler, United Cigar Stores, Pan-American, American Bosch Magneto and Virginia Carolina Chemican. Highest for the year were reached by Midvale, Great Northern Ore, White Motor, Missouri and American Beet Sugar.

BUYING BRISK AT OPENING.

Brisk buying marked the opening. The advance in the call rate to 17 per cent. near the close yesterday did not diminish demand for stocks nor stifle speculative spirit, if anything of the kind was desired by money controllers. Overnight orders for stocks came from all sources and prices went up when the gong rang. Chandler advanced seven points and a fraction on its first sale. Mexican Petroleum more than three and United Cigar Stores almost two points. Gains extended throughout the list and early trading was of magnitude.

The price movement continued upward during the first half-hour. Stutz Motor and White Motors made large gains and equipments were a strong class. Canadian Pacific featured the rails, advancing nine points in about thirty minutes. Among strongest issues were American Bosch Magneto, Crucible, General Motors, Goodrich, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, Texas Co., Pittsburgh Coal, Pan American, Midvale and Denver & Rio Grande preferred. They sold from two to nearly five points higher. Steels were strong. Youngstown predictions are that mill will operate at capacity by the coming Fall, if not before the end of the Summer. By the end of an hour profit taking had reduced gains, but the market was still on a high level.

MONEY SITUATION UNCERTAIN.

Traders are regarding the money situation with anxiety and there is no certainty as to what attitude will be taken at Washington. Wall Street is rather expectant of another warning from the Federal Reserve Bank in regard to speculation.

Jesse Livermore said: "I have never yet seen a time when flurries in the market for call funds, repeated day after day, did not forebode trouble for the stock market. All the talk about manipulation of money rates by the banks for stock market purposes is utter rot. Banks couldn't manipulate rates if they desired to do so unless there was a basis for such manipulation. The Federal Reserve system was organized to aid business, not the stock market.

"Brokers usually fortify themselves against fluctuations in the rates for call funds by borrowing money for long terms. Time money is virtually unobtainable. All stock market business, therefore, is being conducted today on call funds. When those have been exhausted the buying power will collapse. When that condition will exist I do not know, nor perhaps can anyone tell. But that it will come is as certain as fate."

COAL ISSUES UP ON BOSTON BOURSE

Fairbanks Continued to Advance, Opening at a New High

Prices ruled higher in Boston when trading in stocks began, but opening fluctuations averaged small and there was nothing unusual about early trading. Coal issues were strong, Pond Creek advancing more than one and Island Creek more than two points during the first hour. Fairbanks opened at a new highest record price and then sold still higher. Mexican Investment was a feature and was soon showing more than a point gain. Calumet and Hecla advanced thirteen points to its year's highest. Coppers were quiet as a group.

Among strong stocks were Eastern Steamship preferred, Calumet and Arizona and Warren Brothers. Fractional gains were made by Stewart, U. S. Smelting, American Zinc, Osceola, New Cornelia and Bigheart.

Superior and Boston receded a fraction owing to the calling of an assessment of $1 a share, payable August 5 to stock of record July 19.

Needham Tire Stock

Burgess, Lang & Company will shortly offer to the investing public $500,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock of the Needham Tire Company, a Massachusetts corporation, at $99 per share. A feature of this offering is the fact that this preferred stock is convertible into common stock at any time par for par. The stock will be offered to the public about the middle of July.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, July 9.—Opening prices on the Board of Trade were: Corn—September, 1.92 to 1.91¼; December, 1.61⅛ to 1.60½. Oats—July, 72¼ to 72; September, 72¾ to 71¾; December, 74⅛ to 74¾.

New York Sub-Treasury Loss

New York, July 9.—The sub-treasury lost $1,355,000 to the banks on Tuesday, reducing the cash net gain since Friday to $8,101,000.

Copper Metal Advances Again

August copper has sold at 20 cents a pound. This is a ¼-cent advance. September metal is still quoted at the same figure, but another advance is expected soon.

RAILROAD LOSS FOR FIRST FIVE 1919 MONTHS

The net loss in operation of railroads under Federal control for the first five months of this year is officially estimated to total $272,250,183. The net loss for Class One roads by month has been: January, $56,635,893; February, $65,313,327; March, $64,576,987; April, $49,304,381; May, $36,419,595; total, $272,250,183.

Freight business declined and the increase in rates has not been proportionate to the increased cost of material and wage advances. Director-General Hines illustrates the decrease in freight traffic by the following comparison of net ton miles per mile of road per day.

	1919	1918	1917
January	4,275	3,478	4,770
February	4,002	3,391	4,511
March	4,039	3,273	5,192
April	4,131	3,471	5,251
May	4,524	5,228	5,617

STEEL TRADE EXPECTS BIG GOVERNMENT ORDER

The steel trade has learned that the Railroad Administration will place soon an order for 300,000 tons of rails. A few weeks ago buying from the same source provided business aggregating 200,000 tons. Aside from rail orders there has been little buying by the carriers since they have been under Federal control. But much equipment business may be placed before the end of the year. There is no longer any talk of cheaper steel.

A large part of the orders which are being executed by mills at present came from automobile makers, oil producers and the electrical trade.

American Sugar Dividends

Directors of the American Sugar Refining Co. have declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. and an extra of ¾ of 1 per cent. on th common stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred, all payable October 2 to holders of record Sept. 1. An extra dividend of the same amount was declared three months go.

Cotton Prices Advanced

New York, July 9.—Bad weather reports from the Eastern belt caused an advance of from 5 to 25 points on the call in the cotton market. Buying was by New Orleans and Liverpool. At the end of fifteen minutes prices were about 25 points above Tuesday's close. Opening prices were: July, 33.80; October, 33.65; December, 33.65; December, 33.55; January, 33.50; March, 33.25; May, 33.23.

Hogs Keep On Climbing

Chicago, July 9.—Hogs sold at $22.70 a hundredweight this morning, a new highest record price.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN JULY 9, 1919 BOSTON.

The Majority of the English People Are Among the Best and Most Democratic in the World

Robert Williams, Robert Smillie and George Lansbury are among the most influential and best known men in Great Britain. Our readers will recall that Robert Smillie is the head of the great miners' union. He is the man who recently put English noblemen upon the witness stand in a controversy before an investigating committee and cross-examined them concerning their titles to coal land, and in that cross-examination created such a sensation in the thoughtful world.

Smillie is one of the most powerful men in political influence and inherent character which the British world possesses today. George Lansbury is the editor of the Daily London Herald. Lansbury's influence is greater than that of his paper, great as it is.

These men represent a very large body of liberal opinions. They have signed an appeal to men and women throughout the British Empire against the oppression now being practiced by the British government upon 315,000,000 white people in India. They have called attention of the world to the violation by the British government of the right of self-determination in India. We print this letter:

> "We, the undersigned, appeal to our fellow-countrymen and women to give thought and attention to the condition of affairs in India.
> "That country, which contains 315,000,000 human beings, is at present ruled by a handful of officials, whose gross incompetence and ignorance have brought these peaceful, law-abiding people to the verge of open, undisguised revolution.
> "Indians ask the same rights, the same duties, the same recognition, as Siberia, Poland and other small European peoples. The bureaucrats of India reply with a coercion act which robs Indians of all freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of public meeting.
> "Indians are unarmed, yet they are bombed from aeroplanes and shot down with machine guns.
> "We cannot believe our countrymen and women understand these things; neither do we think they realize that these autocratic methods place in jeopardy the lives of thousands of British men, women and children.
> "We therefore ask you to join us in our protest against the bombing and shooting of unarmed men and women, and in our demand for a public inquiry into these outrages, the complete withdrawal of the coercion bills, and the immediate introduction of self-government, giving to the millions of Indians the same rights as now enjoyed by Canada, Australia and Africa."

The whole body of Liberals in England and Scotland are joining in this protest against the British treatment of her colonies in Egypt and India. These men speak for an element of the British population which is as distinct from the British Tory as white is from black.

More than any other country in the world, the English people have the character of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. No population on earth has a blacker element, more unscrupulous, more cynical, more stained with blood and treachery than the British Tory element.

When they are in power almost invariably Britain's transgressions against human rights and the rights of little nations have been perpetrated. The British Tory element has won for Great Britain the title of "perfidious Albion." The Tory element has stained the name of Great Britain with deeper shame in her international relations than attaches to any other country since the Dark Ages.

On the other hand, Great Britain contains an element of her population comprised of her workmen, her middle class non-conformists and that body of people that adheres ordinarily to the Liberal party, which is unsurpassed in character, in adherence to principle, in capacity for self-restraint and self-reproach and self-sacrifice.

To this class America has long owed a debt of gratitude which she has only recently paid. During her Civil War, when our country was torn apart and the armies of the South were winning victories, and to an outside observer the cause of the Union looked dark, the British Tory rejoiced. He saw in the fall of the Republic an example of the failure of republics. He saw the discouragement of radical opinion throughout the world with the failure of the American Republic. The British Tories wanted to add to Lincoln's burden the last straw—which would have been the recognition of the belligerency of the South.

Lincoln sent Henry Ward Beecher to England to oppose this scheme to consummate the disorganization of a republic for the edification of the European monarchies and aristocracies. The Tories were hoping to get the aid of the British workmen and the British middle classes in their scheme to complete the disruption and decay of American democracy. Their hope of engaging the assistance of the British workman and the middle classes lay in the fact that the blockade which the North was making of the Southern ports was preventing the English cotton mills from getting raw cotton with which to manufacture their cotton cloth.

This was one of the greatest British industries, and the looms were lying idle and the working people were on the streets without work, and it was contended slyly by the British Tory aristocracy that Lincoln's blockade was unlawful, and that the workmen were being starved by an unlawful assertion of power by the North under Lincoln.

Henry Ward Beecher, Lincoln's emissary, went among the workmen and addressed great meetings. He did not deny the blockade. He did not deny that the blockade would continue. He gave them little or no hope of an early resumption of work, but he asked them to remember that the war was being waged to free human beings from slavery. He asked them if English workmen were not willing to make a sacrifice of hunger when the American workmen were making a sacrifice of blood to relieve America and the world of the stain of human slavery. Those British workmen responded to our appeal and the Tory scheme for recognition failed.

We want it always understood when we hold up to America Great Britain's international crimes that we do not include the British workmen or the British Liberal classes generally.

Under Article 10 of the League of Nations America will be called upon to guarantee British oppression such as is set forth in the appeal which Messrs. Williams, Smillie and Lansbury have issued against British conduct in India. Let us remember that we shall, if we ratify the treaty of peace as it now stands with Article 10, undertake to aid with the lives of our young men British conduct toward 300,000,000 people in India, if any nation should go to the aid of the people of India.

Under the treaty of peace, which this League of Nations guarantees, Shantung is torn from China and given to Japan. Four hundred million people in China resent that outrage. The Chinese are a brave and efficient people. All military experts admit their fighting capacity once they are well organized and equipped.

Is there any intelligent human being that does not believe that China will try to take back Shantung the moment she feels that she can? Her population is more than five times greater than Japan's. Her resources are more than ten times greater, she has become a REPUBLIC. She is building railroads, canals, industrial plants. She is becoming more and more efficient, while her population is already industrious almost beyond comparison.

The time is not distant when she will feel herself capable of measuring swords with Japan, and squaring all the wrongs which she feels that Japan has done her in the last twenty-five years of Japanese IMPERIALISM in the East. Under the present League of Nations, if we ratify it, Japan can call upon America to defend her in the possession of Shantung against Chinese hordes.

There is every reason to believe that there is a scheme afloat among the nations committed to the League of Nations to disrupt Russia. Russia has 180,000,000 people, whose fighting capacity the whole world knows. There is not power enough in the world to keep Russia down. Under the settlement of this treaty, if this suspicion is confirmed concerning Russia, America will be bound to wage war at any time to keep 180,000,000 people of the same blood apart.

We leave out all consideration of danger to the peace of the world from the present attitude of the German race. But anybody who thinks that the German race can be made a race of slaves by foreign masters does not know anything about German history.

Does such a League of Nations tend to prevent war or does it tend to provoke war?

TO THE President.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
MY DEAR Mr. President.
FAR BE it from me.
TO ADD to your troubles.
AND YOU haven't much time.
TO TALK to folks.
UNLESS THEY'RE important.
AND OF course I'm not.
AND NEITHER is my neighbor.
OR ANY of my friends.
BUT IF you'll count us.
YOU'LL FIND all told.
ABOUT NINETY million.
AND OF course we're excited.
ABOUT THE League of Nations.
AND SOME of us are for it.
AND SOME against it.
AND THERE are a few of us.
WHO UNDERSTAND it.
AND WE'LL all be glad.
WHEN YOU get it settled.
AND THE people of Europe.
HAVE BEEN provided for.
AND THEY'RE happy again.
BECAUSE, MR. President.
IF NOBODY'S told you.
I'M GOING to tell you.
THAT THINGS over here.
HAVEN'T CHANGED a bit.
SINCE YOU went away.
EXCEPT THAT the prices.
IN MOST of the places.
WHERE WE have to eat.
HAVE GONE up again.
AND THE portions they serve.
ARE THE old war portions.
AND RENTS have increased.
AND MILK has gone up.
AND THE same old bunk.
ABOUT A famine in ice.
HAS BEEN peddled again.
SO THE price could be raised.
AND THEY'RE still having drives.
FOR ALL sorts of things.
AND IT may be all right.
AND I'M not blaming you.
BUT I wanted to ask.
IF AFTER a while.
WHEN THE Senate's all through.
AND EUROPE'S fixed up.
AND THEY'VE plenty of food.
AND THEIR babies have milk.
IF WE couldn't arrange.
SO THESE friends of mine.
WHO ARE just common folk.
AND DON'T talk very much.
COULDN'T FIND a way out.
FROM THE mess they are in.
SO THE money they get.
MIGHT BUY what they need.
AND JUST at this point.
I RECALL a good man.
WHO FED all the birds.
THAT CAME into his yard.
AND ALLOWED a canary.
HE HAD in the house.
TO JUST about starve.
HE WAS so very busy.
HE DIDN'T have time.
TO LOOK after the bird.
THAT HE had in the cage.

I THANK you.

GLADNESS IN A WORLD OF BEAUTIFUL COLORS

By Winifred Black

ISN'T it fine to see all the new clothes?

Everybody's wearing new clothes, or else old clothes freshened up and made to look as much like new as possible.

Blue and pink and light green, cerise and opal gray, yellow and white, and here and there a flash of scarlet—how gay it is after the gloom of the Winter!

Why, the world is a tulip bed dancing in the sun! No, it's a field of poppies, ablow in the wind. No, it's a garden of lilacs aswing in the silver light of the radiant moon.

Of course, it isn't for nothing that nature covers the world with a woolly white blanket for so many months and with a dull gray quilt so many others, and then burst into joyous bloom till the whole world seems suddenly to break into song—no wonder we human beings want new clothes this time of year.

How pretty they are, the new colors, and how fresh and summery the girls look in them.

Color Miracles

How we've exploded all the old theories about colors this year.

Blue goes with green, and violet smiles with pink. And as for the wearers of them—what's become of the fallacy that blondes should always wear blue, and brown girls must never light up their costume with anything but red?

I met a black-eyed woman the other day all dressed in delicate blue, and I never saw her look so pretty in her life.

"Dear me," I said, "how young you look!"

The woman in blue smiled, for she really isn't very young at all.

"It's the blue," she said. "I've always been dying to wear it; I simply love it. When I was little I always dressed my dolls in blue, and when I grew older I always planted a garden—forget-me-nots, lilies of the valley, lobelia, violets, fleur-de-lis, iris, hydrangea, snow-ball bushes, day lilies, callas—everything blue and white, and it was the dream of my soul to sit there and fairly live these colors.

"But I always had to have red on myself, or yellow—for it was the law of the Medes and the Persians that you mustn't even look at blue unless you were very, very fair.

"Last Winter I saw a celebrated French actress who made a picture of herself in a blue frock, and she was as dark as a gypsy. I went straight home and telephoned to my dressmaker, and since then I'm happy in blue."

Also, I met a lovely reddish blonde in primrose yellow and she looked like nothing in the world but a beautiful daffodil.

How glad I am for the new colors and the old ones, too.

A Glorious World

I've had a whole day made cheery by a dash of scarlet in a dreary landscape, and I've seen a dull room electrified into glorious life by a scarf of pure yellow hung in just the right place at just the right window.

Chinese blue—what a color it is! Almost green and nearly purple, and yet bluer than any blue we've ever used before.

Apple green—for fair girls and for brown, how fresh and young and beautiful it is!

Do they have sounds to you—the colors?

They do to me. Red is the blare of a trumpet. Apple green is the note of a silver flute. Yellow is the sweep of a bow upon the violin strings. And blue is the song of the meadow larks and all the apple trees in blossom, and little boys go barefoot to wade in all the laughing streams, and little girls come singing home from school.

What a beautiful prismatic and glorious world it is, to be sure. And how glad we all ought to be to be alive in it!

EARTH GROWING BIGGER IN ITS OLD AGE

Science says our earth is growing bigger! How can that be? Simple enough—dead and worn-out suns, worlds and moons strew the ether with dust and fragments which our globe picks up as we rush through space! The famous scientific writer, Dr. W. H. Ballou, tells all about this and its possibilities, next Sunday in the

He Killed Competition
When Is Usury Legal?
The Double "O" in Finance

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Wall Street gamblers, paying twenty per cent. for money, can sympathize with the ordinary gambler fighting against the zero and the double zero on the roulette wheel. Twenty per cent. interest for gambling money is about equal to the zeros and about four times the rake-off of a conservative gambling concern like Monte Carlo.

Is not twenty per cent. usury, by the way, and what makes it legal to practice usury when men who need money happen to be gamblers? The Federal Reserve head might answer that.

John D. Rockefeller was eighty years old yesterday. He drinks a teaspoon of olive oil every day; and, what is more important, plays golf and does not worry. He hopes to live to one hundred, then really begin living.

The hope is not unreasonable. Carnagie, who died at one hundred and four, said he had to live to ninety to realize that the world was beautiful.

A man's best years should be from eighty to one hundred and ten, when he has earned the right to rest and contemplate without self-reproach for laziness.

Americans will not grudge Mr. Rockefeller his years of ease or his fortune, which is said to be above a million a year income. He does not spend it, merely re-invests, wastes little; and the people with their power of taxation and right of eminent domain can do any regulating necessary.

Mr. Rockefeller has done much good through his institute that fights disease. His great service was rendered in his days of money-making when he proved that competition is not necessary to successful business by monopolizing the oil industry of the United States and reducing prices while increasing his profits. He showed that monopoly can work well. He will be remembered a thousand years from now as the man who first demonstrated on a great scale that all of one industry can be in one hand. In a thousand years perhaps the people will have learned enough to say, "If one power can control an entire national industry or source of wealth, we the people will be that power."

You may study in New York the process by which the poor have small charity put to the left-hand pocket while neat robbery goes to the right-hand pocket.

At three places in New York city ice in small doses is distributed to the poor free. In that same city at ninety-nine different places the same poor people are deprived of free street car transfers. Hundreds of thousands who cannot afford it must pay two cents twice a day for transfers.

Free ice at three places, transfer robbery in ninety-nine places. The money stolen by the corporations with the connivance of public officials from street car fares would supply the poor with ice and leave plenty of money over. That is one department of the system to promote radicalism.

There is threat of an Italian-German alliance, because Italians are dissatisfied with the peace terms. You can imagine the Kaiser crossing his fingers rapidly when he hears about this. He had an alliance with Italy, the famous "Triple Alliance," before he started on the last expedition — and look what happened then.

But for Italy the Germans would have had Paris.

Taxpayers should be interested in a certain $4,000,000 "mystery hospital" in Chicago. A gentleman with a large heart, named Hines, owned a speedway that was not a success. On that speedway, in the kindness of his heart, he built a gigantic wooden hospital. Mr. Hines is in the lumber business. He says, and his friends say, that when he changed the speedway failure into a hospital he was simply boiling over with patriotism.

Be that as it may, somebody or something has persuaded Congress to order the Secretary of the Treasury to buy that hospital for $4,000,000, although the Secretary does not want it and the War Department would not know what to do with it.

There ought to be a chance for an investigating committee there. The committees investigating anarchy might learn something by investigating one of the many schemes that promote such things.

The French suspect that there is something queer about the plan to have the Kaiser go to England to be tried. As the French want the Kaiser dealt with roughly, they may well be suspicious. The House of Commons cheered the statement: "Nobody in particular wants the ex-Kaiser brought here"; and King George of England probably would not especially enjoy attending the execution of his first cousin, the King of Prussia and Emperor of Germany that was.

One king does not like to see another king hung or beheaded. It causes a creepy feeling. That is why, during the war, the kings of Prussia, England and Spain were striving vainly to save the Emperor of Russia from his fate.
